Pending Building Approval

Daly City Council Okehs Car Wash

That carwash—the one on Hillside Boulevard in Daly City that attracted a protesting bevy of picketing moms last November—quietly gained approval of councilmen Monday night.

But the okeh depends on approval of the car wash by the building department, and clearance on two other restrictions.

Robert S. Hossli, finance director, said "...At this time I am asking...for authorization to issue a business license to this application when clearance has been received..."

The restrictions, to be met by owner John C. Smith, in conducting the 999 Hillside Boulevard business, are:

1—There will be an attendant between the hours of 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. daily, except Sunday.

2—Business operation may be open any number of hours between 6 a.m. and 11 p.m., but must be closed between 11 p.m. and 6 a.m.

The council decision was without dissent.

Parents of Colma and John F. Kennedy school youngsters battled both councilmen and school trustees for action that would curtail construction of the car wash. They petitioned and picketed for "Safety along with Education," as one placard spelled it out.

More than 50 pickets were reported parading around the Hillside and Market car wash site—near the Colma School—at the peak of the controversy last November.

Silence Over Changing Charter Hit

Earlier Story
On Page 38

Daly City Councilman Frank Pacelli Monday night applauded efforts of Bernard J. (Bud) Lycett, his city's mayor, to get "an answer—yes or no" from the county board of supervisors on the controversial proposal supervisors be elected by district, instead of countywide.

Lycett, at last Thursday's North County Council of Cities meeting, was bitter in his denounciation of supervisors for their silence in the matter.

He asked the board to tell the Council of Cities (North County) whether or not they intend to place the proposed amendment to the county charter on the ballot, giving the decision to voters.

After Lycett had thoroughly scored the county lawmakers, the Council of Cities directed that a letter, asking an immediate answer, be relayed to the board in time for yesterday's meeting of supervisors.

Freshman Supervisor Robert St. Clair urged the letter be delivered to each supervisor. He indicated the matter could be brought up by him or a colleague, if the formal letter could not be placed on the agenda officially.

In his discussion during a period on the Daly City Council agenda devoted to "public appearances — oral communications," Pacelli viewed the problem as one that "concerns ev-

Bruno Park Acquisition Plans Off?

The City of San Bruno might abandon its plans to purchase an 80-acre site in Crestmoor Canyon for a city park if the deal is not consummated before the present fiscal year terminates June 30, officials indicated Monday night.

City Manager Gerard Vergeer told councilmen negotiations with Consolidated Lands Corp., owners of the site, have "reached a stalemate," and noted the city's agreement with the California Highway Department for a joint purchase of the property will terminate June 30.

Under the agreement with the highway department, the city would purchase the 80-acre site with the provision that the state pay cash for 20 acres for the Route 186 freeway right-of-way.

"This agreement terminates June 30," Vergeer said, "and it does not appear at the present time that the deal can be completed prior to that deadline."

Vergeer said the transaction has been "in the talking stage" for more than two years, and the land development company and the city have not been able to agree on terms.

Specific terms of the proposed transaction have not been announced.

In other business Monday, the council adopted a resolution authorizing the calling of bids for construction of long awaited additions to the city hall.

The federal government recently agreed to provide matching funds up to $100,000 for the project, which will also serve as a civil defense unit.

Second reading and adoption of an ordinance requiring all future subdivisions to place utility lines underground were held at the meeting, and the council adopted an ordinance commending the city code concerning dancing regulations and fees.

Chamber Sets Bruno Meeting

The San Bruno Chamber of Commerce will hold its first merchants' meeting of the new year Thursday in the chamber's new meeting room in the Eureka Savings and Loan Association building.

The meeting will begin at 3 p.m.

Called A 'Routine Matter'

By DON GRIERSON

Almost a third of San Bruno's police force was suspended Friday in what was described as "a routine action."

Both City Manager Gerard Vergeer and Police Sgt. Richard Delucchi, one of the ten suspended officers, said it was "a routine matter with the department, and there is nothing unusual about it."

Delucchi, who resigned from the force Friday after receiving a ten-day suspension, said, "there have been more than 50 suspensions given since I joined the department four years ago."

Vergeer said the department suspends personnel for varying periods of time "as routine means of maintaining discipline and organizational structure."

Neither the city manager nor Police Chief Russell Cunningam would divulge reasons for the mass suspensions.

"It's a routine matter, and that's all I intend to say about the subject," Vergeer said.

Chief Cunningham said, "any statement on the matter will have to come from the city manager."

Mayor Karney Barberian said Delucchi, the only one of the ten suspended officers who resigned, was given his suspension "because he exceeded his

Lucky Tells Plans For Discounting

Lucky Stores, Inc., will announce today that it will reopen its 85 Northern California stores at 10 a.m. on Thursday with (1) reduced prices on all items except those controlled by law; (2) elimination of trading stamps — Blue Chip in the case of Lucky, and (3) shorter store hours.

In the future, Lucky will announce from its San Leandro headquarters, its new store hours are 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., Monday through Friday; 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Saturday, and 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Sunday.

Officers of Lucky said that new discount pricing and merchandising policy will "lower everyday prices on virtually every item" in its markets. The company's announcement will state that "substantial price reductions are possible because of the shortening of store hours, streamlining of store operations, and elimination of trading stamps or other merchandising gimmicks which add to the cost of food."

Lucky officials stated that there will be "no change in quality or selection of merchandise." Because of the new discount policy, they said, "Low everyday prices will be in effect 365 days a year, and a customer need not rely on weekend specials, loss leaders or other bait advertising, and may shop and save any day she chooses." They added that items "will be clearly priced to eliminate

Dope Kit, Weapons Are Found

A patrolman's routine check of two parked cars on El Camino Real in South San Francisco last Tuesday resulted in the arrest of two wanted persons, confiscation of narcotics paraphernalia and an illegal weapon, and location of a stolen automobile.

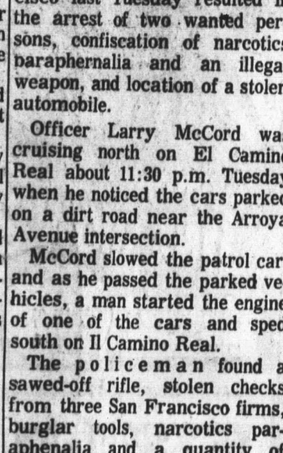
Officer Larry McCord was cruising north on El Camino Real about 11:30 p.m. Tuesday when he noticed the cars parked on a dirt road near the Arroya Avenue intersection.

McCord slowed the patrol car, and as he passed the parked vehicles, a man started the engine of one of the cars and sped south on Il Camino Real.

The policeman found a sawed-off rifle, stolen checks from three San Francisco firms, burglar tools, narcotics paraphenalia and a quantity of white powder believed to be heroin in the two cars.

The automobile in which the trio attempted to escape was stolen several weeks ago in San Francisco, officers said. The engine number of the other car, an old model Chevrolet, appeared to have been altered, and it is believed to have been stolen also.

Arrested were Frank Manuel Sanchez, 25, wanted on a burglary warrant from San Francisco; Vennie Mae Southal, 40, wanted on worthless check charges in South San Francisco, and Gail Edward Souza, 28.



JUDGE FRANK BLUM, stricken with a heart attack last Friday, yesterday was reported in "satisfactory" condition at Mary's Help Hospital, Daly City. The jurist, according to friends, is expected to be convalescing for "about six weeks."

Chamber Staff Is Selected

William Schneider was re-elected president of the San Bruno Chamber of Commerce Tuesday, and will serve in the post through 1967.

Ken Chapman was named to the vice president's position, and insurance agent Oscar Lopez-Guerra was elected treasurer.

Lou Amrofell was named chairman of the chamber's merchants division.

New committee chairmen are Ken Chapman, downtown mall committee; Leonard Frost, beautification committee; Lloyd Ghiselli, membership committee; Dick Stagg, by-laws committee; Chuck Ehmann, aviation committee, and John Pierce, brochure committee.

The new officers will take office immediately, manager Dick King said. They will be installed at a banquet January 28.

D.C. Burglar Confesses In Mid-Trial

Trial of suspected rapist Raymond R. Duncan ended abruptly last week when he pleaded guilty to charges of burglary and assault with intent to commit rape.

Duncan, who has spent half of his 28 years in custody, had been out of prison on parole for only a month when he was arrested last October and accused of breaking into the fashionable Daly City home of a young mother of two, binding her, raping her and escaping in her car.

The trial was in its second day in the courtroom of Superior Judge Wayne R. Millington when Duncan, an American Indian, offered to plead guilty to the two counts. Other counts of rape, kidnaping and auto theft were dismissed.

Judge Millington scheduled sentencing for 9:15 a.m. January 19.

Soon after the Daly City incident, Duncan was arrested in San Jose allegedly while fleeing the scene of another house burglary in still another stolen car. Keys belonging to the Daly City woman were found in his possession.

Authorities said Duncan has escaped from custody on at least three occasions.

Pacelli Gets Board Nod

Frank Pacelli, Daly City Councilman, was named a delegate to the North San Mateo County Sanitation District Board of Directors.

Bernard Lycett, the city's new mayor, had been the delegate in addition to former mayor Al Polonsky, now city attorney.

Lycett remains on the board as Mayor.

NEW SSF Chamber of Commerce Director Frank Fairbanks moved into the C of C office in the basement of City Hall last week. Fairbanks, a former sales and management executive with a San Jose aircraft company, said his first order of business in the new position will be to increase the chamber's membership. (Post Photo)

S.S.F. Chamber Outlines Plans

South San Francisco's new Chamber of Commerce manager, Frank Fairbanks, moved into the C of C office in the basement of City Hall last week and the city now has a full time chamber director for the first time in 13 years.

A former sales and management executive for a San Jose aircraft firm, Fairbanks brings an extensive background of business experience to the task of promoting South San Francisco's business community.

The new manager "inherited" a number of major projects when he took over the post last week, among them the "downtown rejuvenation program," the Grand Avenue widening project, a beautification program and a study project on the Colma Creek flood control district.

Fairbanks said this week the chamber will "vigorously pursue" these projects, while launching a massive membership campaign during the next few weeks.

The organization currently has 131 members.

"Our goal is to double this membership figure within the next few months, and to have

One Hurt In Blaze

A South San Francisco man was injured late last week while attempting to extinguish a fire in his home.

Leonard Clark, 93 Chestnut Avenue, was treated for second degree burns on his right hand and foot at Kaiser Hospital. He was later released.

The fire apparently started from an overheated fireplace.

Firemen said the floor in front of the fireplace and the wall behind caught fire after Clark and his wife went to bed at 10 p.m. They were awakened by smoke in the bedroom about 1:30 this morning.

Two units from the central station fought the fire for more than an hour, the department spokesman said. The floor and wall around the fireplace had to be chopped away to reach the source of the fire.

An armchair and several other items of furniture in the living room were damaged, along with draperies. Damages were estimated at $2,000 to $2,500.

Clark was burned while attempting to move a chair out of the smoke-filled room.

Typewriter, Watches And Liquor Stolen

A typewriter, several watches and five bottles of whiskey were stolen from the home of Michael Williams, 4 Crenshaw, Saturday night, Daly City police reported.

Officers said the property was valued at $850.

Entrance to the residence was gained through forcing the rear door of the basement, police said.

Two television sets were taken from the home of Harry Landolt, 398 Northgate, in another burglarly Saturday.

Lawman's Nose Is Tipoff to Blaze

San Bruno lawman Rich Reed not only has a long arm, but a good smeller, too.

Reed, on routine patrol, told Station Two firemen he smelled smoke in the area of Sneath Lane and Sequoia Drive shortly before 7 p.m. Saturday.

At 7:07 firemen located the source of the smoke—the kitchen and roof of the Ruth residence at 2641 Fleetwood.

When the firemen found the blaze, the kitchen was aflame and smoke billowed from the roof.

They estimated damage to the structure at $3,500 and to contents at $2,500.

The flame destroyed kitchen cabinets, charred the walls and spread quickly to the roof.

The fire "is presumed" to have started in the kitchen cabinets, extending then to the roof.

Police Book S.F. Man

A San Francisco man was arrested for investigation of driving while intoxicated early Sunday morning after his automobile struck the reaar of another vehicle on Mission Street in Daly City.

Arrested was Varnon E. Holsher.

Cast Ready For a Play

All but two members of the cast of "Invitation to a March," have been announced by The Pindrift Playhouse, Pacifica.

The three-act comedy by Arthur Laurents, planned for showing in February, involves eight persons in complications of marriage and life at an East Coast beach.

Two young male characters now are auditioning, and winning candidates will be announced soon, according to Nathanie Marks, director of the play.

Those already rehearsing are Travis Barnes of Foster City, Addie Schwartz, Janet Watson, Sharon Hollander, Robert Formanek, and Gilbert West, all of Pacifica, and Estelle Novells of Daly City.

State Approves Erection Of Advance Notice Signs

Daly City will get signs on Mission street and Alemany boulevard giving motorists advance notice of major side streets.

Alan S. Hart, district engineer for the State Division of Highways in San Francisco, has informed the Daly City Department of Public Works that arrangements have been made for the manufacture and installation of the signs.

The city had requested the signing for Route 82 (Mission) and Route 1 (Alemany).

Hart pointed out that the highway division's present policy is that such advance street name signs may be erected on state highways at constructed left turn pockets with or without signals where it requires the motorist to take action before reaching the intersection.

S.S.F. Woman Is Robbed

Two men teamed up to rob Janet Canfield, a South San Francisco saleswoman of $4.50 last night.

The victim told South San Francisco police she was walking on Brentwood Avenue, near Pinehurst at 7:23 p.m. when she was shoved from the rear, a man taking her purse as she fell off balance.

The robber then dashed to a car parked at the curb on Brentwood and fled.

Her purse, which contained only $4.50 and miscellaneous papers, was found about four blocks away exactly an hour later by Ronald Ellis, who saw it in the gutter as he drove into his driveway on Greenwood Avenue.

The wallet, with the money in it, is all that was missing.

Police said the one suspect had waited outside the car on Brentwood and crept up behind the victim as she walked toward home, 2½ blocks from the police station.

Fight Over Flood Control Fizzles Out

Chances of a good fight between San Bruno and Millbrae over a flood control project fizzled out yesterday when San Bruno, in the spirit of cooperation, conceded Millbrae's demands.

Thirty-eight acres of Millbrae land are included in a flood control zone being established in the San Bruno Creek watershed.

Millbrae officials, acknowledging that the cost to Millbrae taxpayers would be nominal, served notice last month, nevertheless, that they would not allow a San Bruno flood tax to be levied in Millbrae.

They pointed out that a larger area in San Bruno is being serviced by Millbrae's storm drainage system and suggested that the fair thing for San Bruno to do would be to return the favor.

San Bruno City Manager Gerard Vergeer sent a letter to the County Board of Supervisors yesterday stating that the city yielded to Millbrae's request for exclusion. The board took the necessary official action and that was that.

Mrs. Fassler Is Finalist In Bay Area Citizen Of The Year Selection Event

Selection of the first annual Bay Area Citizen of the Year civic service award by KABL Radio moved into its final phase, today, when Heber Smith, KBAL's General Manager, announced that Jean Fassler of Pacifica was one of finalists beeing considered by the judges. Nominations were made by the Pacifica Chamber of Commerce, based on KABL's Citizen of the Day recognition for outstanding contributions by individuals to their respective communities throughout the Bay Area.

"Selecting a single 'Citizen of the Year' from so many outstanding 'Citizens of the Day' is not an easy task, and I don't envy our distinguished judges one bit," said Smith, in announcing Mrs. Fassler's candidacy.

In addition to the "Citizen of the Year" award, KABL Radio will make 10 "Outstanding Citizen" awards at a banquet to be held in San Francisco on January 17. Attending, in addition to those under final consideration for the awards, will be leading civic and business figures from throughout the Bay Area.

The judges, each of whom could qualify for "Citizen of the Year" awards are: J. Hart Clinton, publisher of the San Mateo Times, a Harvard Law graduate and member of both the Massachusetts and California bars, is extremely active in a wide range of professional, civic and charitable activities, which include serving as a director of San Mateo's Legal Aid Society.

Charles Gould, publisher of the San Francisco Examiner, has spent 35 years in the newspaper business, 30 of which have been with the Hearst organization, of which he is a vice president. A Navy veteran, he served in both World War II and Korea and is a reserve captain. He has been awarded an Honorary Doctor of Laws by Golden Gate College, and has receeived awards from the Freedom Foundation.

Abe Kofman, publisher of the San Leandro Morning News, Alameda Times Star and the Fremont News Register, is vice chairman of the California Highway Commission and is very acttive in numerous civic, charitable and professional acttivities. At a testimonial banquet given in his honor late last year, the response was so overwhelming that people had to be turned away.

Cyril Magnin's participation in civic, business and charitable works would fill a volume by itself. In addition to being president of Joseph Magnin, he is president of the San Francisco Port Authority and the Greater San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, a director of the World Trade Center and Western Regional member of the President's Commission of Equal Opportunity in Housing. He has been decorated by both the Italian and French governments.

Steve Still is managing editor of the Oakland Tribune and a recipient of the J. R. Knowland Award. A Navy veteran, he is a thoroughly seasoned newspaperman, who has held his present post since 1964. His interests extend to various civic, professional and charitable activities.

Bridges Is New Bugle Instructor

Robert Bridges Jr., conductor of the Summer Symphony Orchestra sponsored by the South San Francisco Parks and Recreation Department, is the new bugle instructor of the PAL Kingsmen.

The young music student has been working with PAL bugle corps since November.

A graduate of South San Francisco High School, he is presently majoring in music at SF State College.

A competent musician, Bridges has had a great deal of experience conducting orchestras and band in San Francisco also.

Corps Director Bill Borba, Jr., has announced the list of music the Corps will play in 1967.

The selections include Fanfare from "King of Kings," "On a Wonderful Day Like Today," "Sound of Music," Stars and Strips Forever," "Yesterday" and the theme from the motion picture "Exodus."

According to Director Borba there are at present 40 boys and girls in the corps membership with enough equipment for an additional 20 more members.

The majority of openings are in the horn section.

Return to Days Of the Posse?

Not that some persons would even think of recommending a return to the old posse days of the wild, wild West, but nevertheless when they hear of a modern-day version of the avenging scourge, red corpuscles jump.

What brought the posse business to mind was a story in a New York newspaper which told of some 75 Long Island teen-agers, angered at the death of a friend in an auto accident, making a block-by-block search of Western Nassau County until they tracked down the alleged driver of the death car.

What the teen-agers did was technically against the law, perhaps. Yet their action proved beyond even the merest wisp of suspicion that not all teen-agers are irresponsible, devil-may-care, nonconformists. The Long Island youngsters did, as a policeman on the scene said, "a remarkable job of detection — they did something really fine."

Those 75 teen-agers and thousands of their own age who were impressed by the story of their "police" work will probably turn out to be first-rate adult citizens. And probably few of them will ever be responsible for a serious car accident.

'Doolittle' Set Visit

Barbara Bladen

HOLLYWOOD . . . It's not the number of hours a seal will work but how long it takes to eat five pounds of fish. After that, he goes to sleep.

No, I wasn't at Marineland but on a sound stage at Twentieth-Century-Fox studios at Century City where Rex Harrison had dressed up a live seal in woman's clothing and was escorting her from the circus to the Bristol Channel from where she could swim back to her lonesome husband at the Antarctic.

"Dr. Doolittle" with six months filming completed and six months more to go, looks like one of the world's all-time charming pictures. I'm prepared to gamble on that right now after having spent only a few hours on the set.

Look at what it has going for it. Sexy Rexy singing five solos; music, lyrics and script by Leslie Bricusse who wrote "Pickwick" (If I Ruled the World) and in collaboration with Anthony Newly, had brightened the London and Broadway theater scene with "Stop the World I Want to Get Off" and "The Roar of the Greasepaint, the Smell of the Crowd."

Add to that 1,400 live animals, trained to take direction and not eat the actors; Samantha Eggar, fresh from her triumphant role in "The Collector"; Anthony Newly making his American film debut as Matthew Mugg, the Irish cat's meat man) and Richard Attenborough, famed for tense dramatics (wait 'til you see what a beautiful portrayal he does in "Sand and Pebbles"), he'll introduce his musical talents as Mr. Blossom, the circus owner and Peter Bull who played the Russian general so memorably in "Dr. Strangelove."

IT WON'T BE ANYTHING LIKE a Disney film, Mr. Harrison assured us, because there is no animation and not "Cute" in the accepted sense. The visual delights inherent in such characters as the Pushmi-Pulli; the Great Pink Sea Snail; Sophie, the Seal; Polynesia, the Parrot and Sheila the Fox bespeak an air of jollity and fun on a grand scale.

"It isn't my most difficult role. I've talked with my dog and five cats for years," Harrison volunteered between fish feedings to the seal.

"Playing Caesar in 'Cleopatra' was the hardest in terms of acting but this may be the most different role and the most arduous of my career."

JUST WHO WAS DR. DOOLITTLE? He was an English physician, circa 1840, created for juveniles by the late Hugh Lofting, who forsakes his prosperous practice and decides to minister only to animals when his human patients tire of tripping over quadrapeds every time they enter his office. He learns to converse with the animals in more than 400 languages. He, if you're old enough to remember the popular stories, was particularly fluent in shellfish language.

One scene shows the eminent medico riding into jungle swampland aboard a giraffe and alighting to extract an infected tooth from a suffering crocodile. He does this by linking the lizard's molar by a length of vine to an elephant's tusk, making the pachyderm move away and at the success of his endeavor, blissfully hitches a ride to his next patient on a passing rhinoceros.

"The rhino and water buffalo are the most dangerous but I know how to handle them. The former must be subdued with a soft drink poured directly into his gaping mouth from the can. Then he's calm for hours."

"The trick is never to rehearse animals. Start the cameras at once because once they get bored, they misbehave."

The lanky Britisher claims he'll take a long rest after this picture and I reminded him he'd told me the same thing at a Hollywood party after "My Fair Lady."

"Ah, yes, so I did," he replied, "but this time I really mean it, dear lady."

Even if his hair is longer and curlier than mine, he's still sexy.

ART TEACHER — Marjorie Elliott, whose painting class opened yesterday at the San Mateo YWCA in Westlake's War Memorial Center, presents some of her work.

YWCA Art Action

Artist Marjorie Elliott whose 9:30 a.m. painting class opened at the San Mateo YWCA in Westlake's War Memorial Center recently began her career as a painter under circumstances that might be called "unsettled."

Her Air Force husband's recent retirement gave her first chance to settle down in more than 20 years of moving from one post to another.

During her travels, Mrs. Elliott, a fourth-generation native daughter of San Francisco and child of the well-known painter Marjorie Close, sought out famous painters wherever she went and had many for teachers.

She became illustrator for the Air Force Wives' club magazine and unofficial decorator for clubs, parties, and state occasions at bases throughout the U.S.

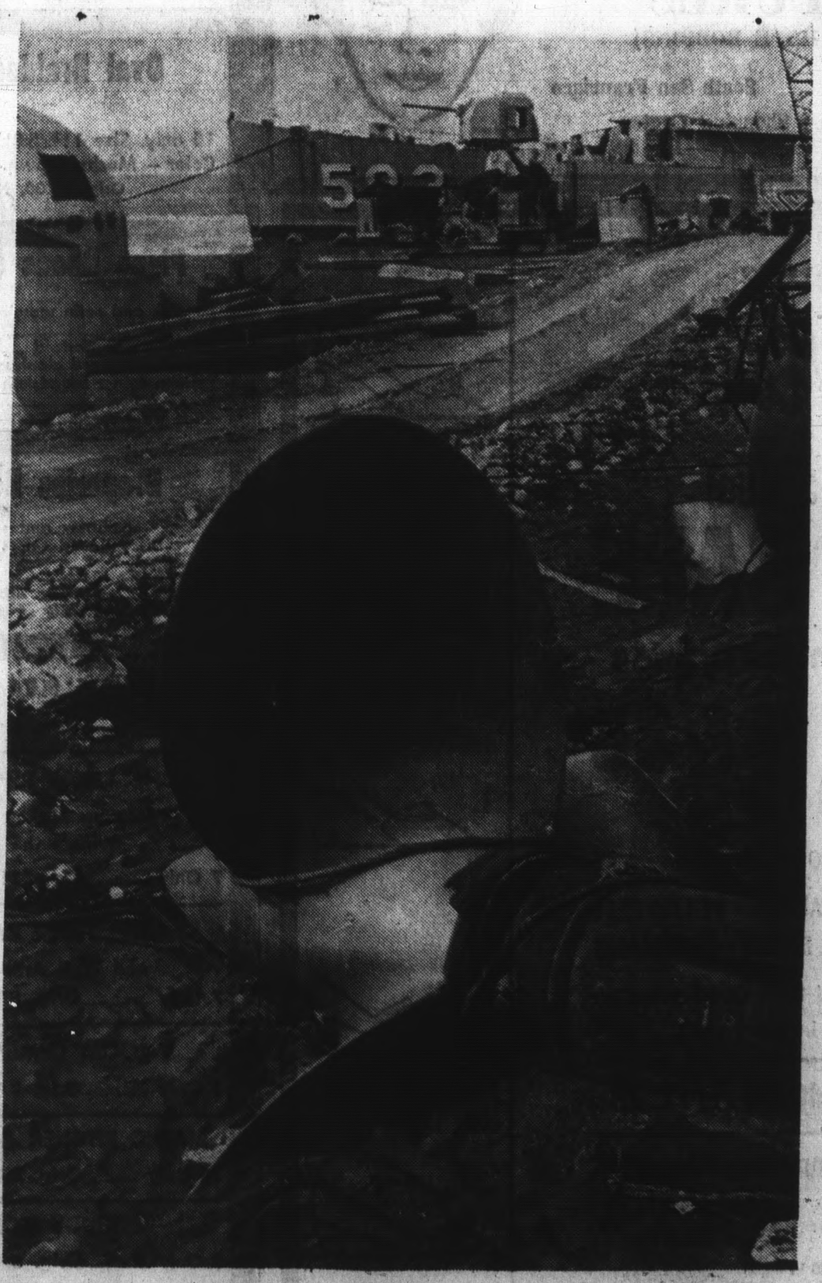
A picture she painted of a friend's daughter launched her career as a portraitist. Commissions which followed include the portraits of prominent military men and their families in Washington, D.C.

In 1958 she was commissioned to do a large religious painting for Travis Air Force Chapel.

A member of the Society of Western Artists, she has shown at the Smithsonian Institute, Honolulu Art Academy, and de Young Museum. At present she is sharing a show with her mother at Golden Gate Bank, Ocean Avenue branch.

She has taught painting for the past 15 years, most recently for Daly City Recreation Department.

Her YWCA classes are open to both men and women.



The U.S.S. Johnson, the destroyer escort beached in Pacifica since last October, is shrinking, piece by piece, as crews dismantle old 583. Post photographer recorded this phase of salvage operations late last week. Pieces are being shipped out by truck. Salvage company officials gave up feasibility of refloating her soon after she came to rest at Mori's Point. In meantime, ship became prime tourist attraction in Pacifica.

A Look at The Monkee Business

Samuel Chandler

"Do you think the Monkees sound like a dart is going through a sheet of tin?" asks a teen-ager.

Well, no, they sound more like air escaping from exhausted windpipes.

But not always; sometimes they sound as if their throats were made of steel wool and their guitars of spoiled wood.

But there's humor behind their twang, even originality which sets them head and shoulders above most of the unruly hair groups.

"THEY wanted us to be the Beatles," one of them said, "but we're not. We're us. We're funny." So they are. Their music booms in and fades out to create an effect unachieved by other groups. Sometimes — at rare moments — their guitars play snatches of melody rather than the mere beat.

The Monkees were formed for a TV series after the Beatles' success in "A Hard Day's Night" and "Help!" To get get them going, producers Bert Schneider and Robert Rafelson put an ad in Variety for "four insane boys, age 17-21." Of the 437 who applied, they chose four young men already involved in show business.

For a drummer they picked Mickey Dolenz, who acted in "Peyton Place" and "Mr. Novak." At age ten he began a three-year run in "Circus Boy." The producers chose him, they said, because he was a pre-ordained monkey anyway.

As a singer and guitarist the producers selected Peter Tork who was appearing as a soloist in music houses on the West Coast. His musical career began in New York City's Greenwich Village in various pass-the-hat hideaway places. Peter York plays the guitar, ukelele, banjo, piano and French horn. His father is a professor of Economics at the University of Connecticut.

DAVID JONES who sings and plays guitar with t he Monkees, ran away from his home in Manchester, England at age fourteen to "become something." Until he discovered rock and roll he was a jockey at England's Newmarket Racetrack. Later he had starring roles in the musical show's "Oliver" and Pickwick."

Mike Nesmith who sings and plays guitar has been called the solemn-faced Monkee. He was a student at San Antonio College when rock and roll hit him. After that event he joined a trio that was broken up by the local draft board. Although he is six feet one inch and weighs 155 pounds, he elicits sympathy from the people who watch NBC's Monday night showing of The Monkees.

Of all their songs none represent the Monkees and their producers better than their theme song:

Here we come, walkin' down the street,
We get the funniest looks from everyone we meet.
Hey hey we're the Monkees and people say we monkey around.
But we're too busy singing to put anybody down."

Whatever all that means it made them $30,000 apiece when it was issued on a record.

Recently their producer said the Monkees "capture the wild, sweet, for-real spirit of today's rock 'n' roll kids with the same net you use for Father or Mother or U.N.C.L.E. Knows Best."

☆

INFORMATION about the Monkee's can be found in the latest publication of the Hit Songbook Club which is a part of the Columbia Record Club of Terra Haute, Indiana.

It is a subscription type thing with each new member receiving three song books for $1.98 plus mailing costs if he promises to purchase four or fore of the next twelve issues at $1.98.

Each new booklet contains the words, music and guitar chords in easy-to-play arrangements. Some of the current titles are "The Golden Beatles", "The Mammas and the Papas", "Meet the Stars and The Hits That Made Them Famous", "Top Teen Tunes," and "Folksinger's."

The next popular group, I predict, will be The Frivolous Five who sing "Sour Cream and Other Delights."

THESE DOLLS ARE FOR BURNING — Daly City Battalion Chief Frank Specht and Capt. Vern Brooke are shown putting the torch to some 50 Polish dolls which were turned over to authorities in the North County recently. They are highly flammable. (Post Photo)

Christmas '66 Was Dangerous

Lorene Beasley

Christmas 1966 was a dangerous one for children.

The most innocent of all Christmas gifts, a toy bought to bring happiness, could have caused deafness or possible death to them.

In England a group of parents have taken matters into their own hands and adopting a slogan, "Danger at Play," are carefully inspecting toys which might be decorated in toxic lead paint, teddy bears which might be stuffed with ureaformadehyde resin, and dolls whose limbs are attached with sharp spikes.

Their campaign forced the withdrawal from the toy market of a plastic Batman cape that burst into flames if near a match or cigarette. The House of Commons, asked for legislation against the manufacture or importation of dangerous toys, has promised to revise safety standards on toys by early 1967.

IN the United States, both the Food and Drug Administration and the Public Health Services are investigating reports concerning a plastic Raggedy Ann doll imported from Poland. This dangerous plaything, costing less than $2, with a face made of nitrocellulose "one of the cheapest and most hazardous plastics," is now being sought by authorities across the country.

Some 30,000 dolls have been found after a warning was sent out by the New York City Fire Department.

A state police laboratory in Indiana said the dolls were "no more dangerous than many other dolls," but officials in Pennsylvania, who had approved the stuffing of the doll and six other Eastern states began withdrawing the dolls immediately from the stores.

Ohio banned the sale of the doll when tests showed the doll's hair would ignite instantly if placed near a heat of 300 degrees.

In California, Paul Daugherty of San Mateo County sheriff's lab said that "the fumes are the real hazard — the fumes are toxic, especially to a small child."

COMMENTING on moves against the sale of flammable dolls, Director Jan Ziemski of the Polish Coopexim Foreign Trade Trust promised dolls in the future made in Poland would be noninflammable. He said after repeated requests, "that the Polish Ministry of Chemical Industry has been able to supply new noncombustible synthetics to the co-operative toy workshops."

Better Business Bureau urges parents to carefully check any new toy, whether it be domestic or imported.

guess work and assure checker accuracy."

Lucky's shorter hours were immediately viewed by union leaders as indicating a possible reduction of the labor force.

"All we know so far," said one official of the Retail Clerks Union, "is that our people are at work in Lucky Stores, repricing or whatever."

Dudley Richardson, Lucky's vice president and northern regional manager, said yesterday that the new merchandising was a form of "tray packing" which permits display of merchandise without removing the foodstuffs from cardboard cases.

Operators of other grocery chains, and officials of the Blue Chip Stamp Company, adopted a "wait and see" or "no comment" attitude.

Librarian Dies at 85

Services for Margaret I. Snell, 85, for 14 years librarian at Pacifica's San Mateo County library branch, were held yesterday at Lasswell's, 6154 Mission St., Daly City.

Mrs. Snell died in a Pacifica rest home Sunday. She suffered a stroke in August, which halted plans for celebration in October of the 66th anniversary of her marriage to William B. Snell, 606 Canyon Drive, who will observe his 94th birthday Saturday.

The couple was wed in Iowa in 1900, reared their family on a general farm in southwestern Colorado, and settled in what now is Pacifica in 1925.

Mrs. Snell is survived also by a son, Hiram S. Snell, King City; a daughter, Mrs. Helen L. Van Hook, and a foster son, John Blankenship, both of Pacifica, six grandchildren, nine great-grandchildren and one great-great-granddaughter.

Pacelli Backs Cities' Stand

ery resident" in San Mateo County."

He was emphatic in pointing out that San Mateo County stands alone in California with a system that requires individual district residency by a supervisor, but specifies he shall be voted in or out by the county-at-large.

This county, Pacelli explained, is the only one that votes wholly "at large" for its representatives.

Pacelli said he disagreed with what he called "remarks of some supervisors" calling the North County municipal leaders' efforts "politically-motivated."

He said the North's move to put the measure on the ballot, allowing the voters the choice, "certainly does not smack of politics."

Indeed, Pacelli indicated, "political motivation" on the part of supervisors might be open to question.

He said the board appeared "real reticent" to put the measure to a vote.

"Possibly the board is "protecting their own interests," Pacelli said,

Mrs. Fassler then became Pacelli's chief target briefly while he charged an about face in her position.

He suggested she had become more "politically-oriented."

Pacelli pointed out that through district voting, citizens of the various communities would have a stronger voice in their government.

It is up to the board "to give an answer, yes or no," Pacelli declared.

The alternative — that is no action; even rejection would be to start an initiative petition campaign that could force balloting.

There are observers already willing to envision victory if an initiative is the only way to the polls.

For they say there could be expected many an outcry of:

"They wouldn't let us vote. . .

He disclosed how the chairman of the cities' gathering had been approached about the attendance of two supervisors—Mrs. Jean Fassler of the host-city of Pacifica and James Fitzgerald of San Bruno, since as the flammable topic of supervisorial election methods was an agenda item that night.

Fitzgerald failed to show and Mrs. Fassler had another meeting to attend, she said, and departed shortly after eating and before the business discussions began.

Pacelli questioned, "What kind of meeting would be more important" for Mrs. Fassler than a gathering of Pacelli question," 'What kind of meeting would be more important' for Mrs. Fassler than a gathering of all of the North County's major municipal leaders."

He said she, in 1958, was against the present method, but in recent weeks has been quoted as favoring the "At large" system.

Ten San Bruno Policemen Suspended

authority in making a decision, and the department felt he needed to be reprimanded."

The suspensions ranged from three to ten days.

The mayor and other city officials declined to comment on the specific nature of any alleged offenses which led to the suspensions.

Delucchi, in an interview Monday night, said his resignation "has nothing to do with the suspensions."

He said, "I got tired of risking my life every day for the amount of money I received. It just seemed like a good time to quit."

He also declined to comment on the reasons for the suspensions.

I am withholding comment on the matter, on the advice of our attorney, he said, but added: "It was strictly a routine matter. They suspend guys for any little thing down there."

Delucchi indicated that the mass suspension will be appealed to the City Personnel Board.

The ten suspended men constitute approximately one-third of the city's sworn police officers. Officials would not divulge whether or not the suspensions would take effect at the same time.

S.S.F. Chamber Outlines Plans

350 members by June," the new manager said.

"A chamber of commerce is intended to be a service organization, and service is what we have to offer prospective members," Fairbanks said. "My primary mission at the present time is to establish improved communication between the chamber's members and its administrative staff.

"We want to make this chamber an authentic voice for the entire South San Francisco business community," he said.

Fairbanks said he believes the city has a "fantastic growth potential, because of its attractive tax structure and land values.

"South San Francisco has not been promoted and presented in its true light," he said. "This is a tremendous development area, and our job will be to publicize this fact to business concerns."

Fairbanks will be assisted in the secretarial aspects of his position by Vivian Lundeen, who has been employed by the chamber on a part-time basis.

William Borba is president of the organization.

The chamber will elect six new directors January 26 in a meeting at the New Southern Restaurant.

The new director lives in Sunnyvale with his wife and two teen-age daughters.

Experiment By Future Teachers

The Future Teachers of America Club in South San Francisco have introduced a new and different experiment at South San Francisco High School, it was recently revealed.

Club sponsor Don Stupfel, and 25 members teach children to draw each Monday afternoon in Room D-26.

This special class occurred purely by accident.

Several children who attended Los Cerritos Elementary School passed through the hall of South San Francisco High School on their way home.

One day they came up to Stupfel's room and he gave them some paper and from then on they continued to come and draw.

From this, Stupfel decided to combine his Future Teachers Club with his after-school art class and it worked to the advantage of both groups.

The FTA is learning to work with and observe children, the basis is preparing them for a teaching career, and the children have their art lessons.

The FTA's president is Joanna Marrasco, secretary is Sue Kasano, and treasurer is Delores Mergogey.

Meetings are held each Monday afternoon in D-26 with the students of Los Cerritos. Stupfel is looking for new members.

He commented, "It is a wonderful experience and a good job reference for future employment." In addition to the regular Monday meetings, eight members of the club go to Los Cerritos Tuesdays at 1:30 p.m. as teacher aides.

Once a month, these eight girls are taken to lunch by Principal Emanuele Damonte.

Ultimately, Stupfel hopes to introduce a plan wherein the girls would get five-unit credits as a teacher's aide.

Several field trips are being planned for the Spring.

The Future Teachers Club state convention will be in Sacramento and the South San Francisco club plans to attend.

Warriors' Muscle Is Still Tough

Anybody who thinks that South San Francisco High School's sports dominance for the 1966-67 year stopped at football gets a second chance for another large guess.

The Warriors postmarked an authoritative bid for the 1967 North Peninsula League basketball title Saturday night by soundly thrashing Westmoor, 78-59, in the NPL tournament championship game.

In other games, Terra Nova held on for third place with a 60-53 victory over Oceana and Jefferson High annexed fifth spot with an effortless 50-29 win over Half Moon Bay.

The Warriors broke the game open in the second period after leading by a single point, 18-17, at the quarter.

Applying a full-court zone press and executing a fast break, South SF exploded for 30 points to take a commanding 48-28 lead at the half.

With Alex Smith and Ron Beall clearing the boards and setting up the break, the Warriors moved out to a 66-43 advantage at the end of three quarters, and then coasted through the fourth period for the victory.

Beall paced SSF with 24 points, followed by Smith with 23 markers. Narbis Thompson led Westmoor with 17 points.

In Terra Nova's triumph, the Tigers vaulted out to a quick 26-13 advantage at the end of the first quarter and then nursed their lead throughout to prevail over the Sharks. Jim Bresnahan led the Tigers' scoring with 22 points. Tim Sershan had 19 for the losers.

John Kirby's 15 markers paced Jeff to its victory over Half Moon Bay.

Members of the ten-man All-Tourney team were:

At the Post Bowl Games

Le Pacini

As you may have noted, we studiously refrained from Bowl Game talk during that hectic New Year's weekend, including predictions. The predictions we excluded because our prognosticians are invariably wrong, and the rest we avoided because everybody else was doing it and we thought we'd be different. Besides that, we had, at the time, had our fill of football, and figured you, our reader, might be just as sick of it. Unfortunately for all of us, however, the Bowl Games did remind us of one of our favorite crusades, Centralized All American Teams.

According to the numerous Bowl game announcers, there was a minimum of three All Americans on each team. If memory serves, as a matter of fact, a reserve Alabama wingback was also an All American. During the course of the weekend we learned that there were three "Consensus" All American centers in the United States. We still can't figure how you could get three centers on the first squad without having 13 men on the field, which would be against the rules. All told, there was something like 62 All Americans on JUST the Bowl teams. Now you must admit that would make an unwieldly traveling squad.

Not until we go back to the old one man selection committee as instituted by Walter Camp, will we ever clear up the All American confusion. Camp, you may argue, wasn't very objective, and perhaps too many Yale men did make All American. But in the Camp era when a man was called an All American it was a REAL honor and, by golly, you knew he was the genuine product, one of only 11 originals in the whole world.

So that's what we propose, a one man selection committee. Our personal choice would be Truman Capote. Why Truman Capote? you ask. Well, we might ask Playboy Magazine, Catholic Digest. . . .

Watching so many games at one sitting also emphasized to us the latitude football officials (and basketball officials, for that matter) have which baseball umpires don't have. If a football official really wanted to be picky, he could call an infraction on virtually every play. Football is that kind of a scrambling sport. What it amounts to is that officials call only the most obvious infractions, which is fair enough, except that an official with a grudge or some other reason for wanting to punish a team, legitimate or not, can pick up almost as many infractions as he wishes.

But the real incongruity comes in such rules as roughing the kicker, where even if the kicker is barely brushed the defensive team draws a tough penalty. A clever kicker can sometimes draw such infractions, and there isn't anything an official can do about it because the rule is clear and the kicker's in the open where everybody can see him. Thus, a rule which was made to protect the vulnerble kicker really often punishes a good charging lineman. It's a good rule IF the kicker is really ROUGHED. This SHOULD be a judgment call on the part of the official and it isn't.

Daly City people watching the Alabama-Nebraska game must have felt at home, what with Halfback Ed Morgan (Superintendent of Schools) and end Rich brewer (policeman and former PAL Commissioner) cavorting for the Crimson Tide. Brewer, incidentally, did play end for Balboa High of San Francisco in the early '50's.

HOT STOVE LEAGUE: We noted some interesting things in recently released OFFICIAL major league baseball statistics, and pass them along for what they're worth.

Richie Allen of Philadelphia won the NL slugging title with a .632 average, a tremendous feat for the kid considering that Frank Robinson, the AL's leader who had one of his greatest years, barely nipped Allen for the major league lead with a .637. Willie McCovey was second in the NL (third in the majors) with .586. Mays was fifth at .556, Jimmy Hart eleventh at .510.

Pittsburgh was the top slugging team with .428, with AL clubs Baltimore and Detroit second at .409. The Giants were fourth in their league, behind Atlanta and Cincinnati. The NL was .384, the AL .369.

What perhaps even further damages the Giant image as a slugging team besides their ordinary fourth place finish, was the fact that only one team in baseball struck out fewer times . . . the punch-hitting Dodgers, 830-860. Sluggers are supposed to strike out.

Another damaged image belonged to the Pirates, often characterized as the type of hitters who merely meet the ball and slash it through their rock-hard infield. But the Pirates struck out more than any team in baseball, with 1011 K's.

It isn't hard to figure why the Giants scored so relatively few times (with all those homers) when you discover that in hitting into 142 doubleplays they easily outclassed the field, with the Mets and Houston, at 128 and 127, respectively, the nearest competitors. Jimmy Hart, incidentally, was the NL's top individual in that department, banging into 23 DP's. Trank Robinson, though, had 24.

If you're wondering, as we were, why the Braves got rid of Eddie Mathews, one of the game's greatest all-time stars — even though he is over the hill — so cheaply, think about this. The Braves claimed they dumped him because they wanted more defense, and in trading the Yankees for Clete Boyer they certainly got it. But Mathews is still at least an adequate third baseman, and how many adequate third basemen hit 16 homers, as Mathews did last year. What the Braves got rid of was a big salary. Combined with Boyer's contract Atlanta would have been paying reasonably close to $100,000 for third base protection. The rest of the league knew their plight and just weren't about to be generous. The Braves grabbed the best deal they could get from Houston — a sore armed pitcher (Bob Bruce) and a 'slugger" (Dave Nicholson) on whom three teams have given up.

NOTES FROM S.F. STATE: Former Terra Nova star athlete Jack Bresnahan, now playing JV basketball for State, was involved in a weird incident which nearly beheaded a referee. Laying one up, Bresnahan enticed a UC Medical Center player into his fifth foul, which caused a ruckus leading to a technical foul, which lead to one more technical, which induced a UC grad student to grab the ref's whistle lanyard and yank hard. Needless to say, the game was forfeited to the Tigers.

The Gators may have lost a share in the FWC football title because in using Lowell High's field while theirs was being renovated, they also had to use Lowell's 18 foot wide goal opsts rather than the standard college 23¼ wide goal posts. And that hurt when they were nipped by eventual champion Sacramento State, 10-9, when a Gator conversion attempt was just lightly wide.

Soccer Coach Art Bridgman predicts that State will withdraw from the West Coast Intercollegiate Soccer Association and join a yet to be formed FWC league two years hence.

Westmoor High Stretches Winning Streak to Five

Coming back from two weeks vacation is always tough on wrestlers, but the Westmoor High wrestling team seemed little affected as they downed Burlingame High 43-12 last week. The win stretched Westmoors' unbeaten streak this season to five dual meets.

The Rams pounced on the scoreboard in the first match, as Ken Barfield decisioned Washburn with Vance Hughey following up with a pin over Jower. Westmoor continued adding up points being stopped only twice.

Burlingame won its first match as Palmer-Persen decisioned Olivia in the 112 pound class.

The Rams didn't lose another match until the 154 pound class, when the Panther's Murray pinned Powell.

Shel Klein, a sophomore wrestling his first varsity match in the 165 pound class came from behind to tie Frank of Burlingame. The Westmoor heavyweights stopped Burlingame cold, as Steve McBride pinned Nemer in the scond round and Dave Dotur and Don Barbitta pinned their opponents Jalen and Hartsone, in the first rounds.

Dick Thill was named wrestler of the meet by coaches George McNutt and Jack Coolidge for pinning Armogida in the 133 pund class. Both Thill and Sanginunetti beat their Burlingame opponents.

Colma's Mothers, Daughters to Be Shown Judo

Colma School students and parents will see an unusual exhibition in the multi-use room Thursday at the annual mother-daughter night meeting.

Miss Naoko Miyapima, holder of the world's highest rank in women's judo competition, and Colma Upper School counselor Mrs. Shelly Fernandez, also a judo expert, will present a demonstration in the womanly art of self-defense.

Miss Miyajima, who holds the fourth degree black belt, is an instructor at the Kodokan Judo Insttitute in Tokyo. She is also a physical education teacher at a junior high school in Japan, and plays the Koto (Japanese harp) professionally.

Mrs. Fernandez holds the brown belt in judo.

Girls from the Colma Judo Club, including Julie Giacalone, Charlotte Storseth, Christina Morales, Virginia Morales, Virginia Galban, Viola Galban and Lynne Quigsley, will also participate in the demonstration.

Judo has been inaugurated into the Colma School physical education department with several classes now open to boys on a volunteer basis. A department spokesman said it is hoped the classes will be available for girls in the near future.

The demonstration Thursday night will begin at 7:30. All Colma School students and parents are urged to attend the meeting, and girls and women from Daly City who are interested in judo are also invited to attend.

GIRL SCOUT TROOP 2818 members studied the art and customs of Japan at their regular meeting January 4. Guest speaker was Mrs. Robert Baberts, who wore the costume of her native country and exhibited a collection of dolls and art at the meeting. She taught the Brownies to use chopsticks, and tea was served Japanese style. Many of the girls wore kimonas and Japanese pajamas. Attending the meeting with the Girl Scouts were Troop Leader Mrs. Mae Bastien and Co-leader Mrs. Lisa Pfeifer.

Little Andrew Peters was a little impatient for his dinner one day last week and so, while his mother, Mrs. Ann Peters of Daly City, was busy preparing the evening meal he helped himself to a little snack, half a paper bag, carefully chewed and swallowed.

Happily, he is recovering nicely now following several days of acute stomach trouble and two trips to Mary's Help Hospital. His exhausted mother was still too worn out from sleepless nights to attend the Daly City Community chorus rehearsal on Thursday evening, but, as a good publicity lady will, she was prepared to make a report on the meeting before Friday's deadline.

The Chorus is still immersed in rehearsals for its first 1967 performance scheduled for next month at Vista Mar School. Historian Grace Moore and new member, Cecilia Bacigalupi, were in charge of the social hour and the refreshments after the meeting.

All Baked Out, Too?

Nell Norton

Good morning, good cooks. I wonder if you had the same reaction to all that baking and making for Christmas that I did?

When I washed the beaters and bowls and dried and put away the cookie sheets after that last batch was baked, I said, "I've had enough mixing, fixing and baking to last me for another year." And at that moment I meant it. But, as we all know, baking treats is not like painting a house, you don't do it and then not do it again for years. That cookie jar comes up empty and it's time to bake again.

FORTUNATELY, I do like to bake cookies and my family loves to eat them, so we are most compatable. And during the Christmas holidays, I went visiting and in the course of sitting, chating and snacking, I came across some delicious new recipes. Which I am going to share with you gals today.

This first recipe comes from my friend Mrs. Barbara Johnson, who lives at 1943 Forty-seventh Avenue in San Francisco. These are the most delicious oatmeal cookies I have ever eaten. (And I have the figure to prove that I have eaten lots of oatmeal cookies in my life.)

Barbara used candied fruit in the ones that I sampled and I found them just perfect. However, the recipe calls for gumdrops and she says that they are equally delicious. Another interesting idea would be to use chocolate bits. Experiment if you wish, but do make them. I think they will be a favorite with you, too.

☆ ☆ ☆

AN interesting note: Barb says that she found the recipe on a package of spicy gumdrops. Pretty smart of these candy makers — for she's used this recipe for years.

KANDA SPICETTE COOKIES

1 cup margarine
1 cup white sugar
1 cup brown sugar
½ cup mayonnaise
2½ cups flour (reserve ¼ cup for candy)
2 cups rolled oats
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup spicy gum drops, small
1 cup coconut, optional

Cream the one cup of margarine until fluffy. Add the cup each of brown and white sugar and cream well. Add ½ cup mayonnaise, cups of flour and 2 cups of oats. Sift together the 2¼ cups of flour, 1 teaspoon each, baking powder, soda and salt, and blend into the creamed mixture. Add the two cups of rolled oats, mix well and add the 1 teaspoon vanilla. Lastly fold in the cup of gum drops that have been cut in half and rolled in the ¼ cup flour.

Drop by spoonfuls onto ungreased baking sheet. Bake in 325-degree oven 10 to 12 minutes.

☆ ☆ ☆

SINCE we are in the baking mood I want to share this next recipe with you good cooks. These bar cookies were a winner in the last Pillsbury bake-off and after tasting them, I can see why the judges selected them.

REDI-FROSTED RAISIN BARS

1 cup sugar
1 cup seedless raisins
1 cup cold water
½ cup butter
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon cloves
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon salt
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

In a 2-quart saucepan, combine the one cup sugar, one cup raisins, one cup cold water, ½ cup butter, one teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoons cloves and ½ teaspoon nutmeg and salt. Bring to a boil boil gently 3 minutes. Cool.

Sift together the 2 cups flour, 1 teaspoon soda and ½ teaspoon baking powder. Add to the cooled raisin mixture. Stir in the 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Spread batter eveninly in greased 15x10x1-inch jelly roll pan. Crumble topping evenly over batter; press down lightly. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes. Cool; cut into 2x2-inch bars.

TOPPING

1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
½ cup chopped nuts
¼ cup flour
2 tablespoons melted butter
1 tablespoon cinnamon

Combine 1 cup brown sugar, ½ cup chopped nuts, ¼ cup flour, 2 tablespoons butter and 1 tablespoon cinnamon. Mix well.

1967 All-America Flowers Told

By IVA NEWMAN

Three new annual flowers and two new vegetables carry the coveted All-America Selections Award for 1967. These include a foxglove, a sweet pea, a marigold, a bell pepper and a tomato. All of these are worth a try in our Peninsula gardens for they must be decidedly better than existing varieties to have merited an All-America Selections Award.

One of the most interesting, for those who love the enchanting perfume of sweet peas, is the new "Knee-Hi" bush type sweet pea "San Francisco" with a salmon-cream pink blossom. The Cuthbertson Floribunda or spring-flowering sweet peas brought sweet peas back to the home garden pretty well over the country because of their earlier and longer flowering. These were more heat tolerant than the summer or late flowering giant Spencer varieties, and they had more flowers per stem.

With even more flowers per stem which persist without dropping, we now have this more heat resistant kind in the new Knee-Hi type. The sturdy, heavy stemmed plants need no staking or other support, say the introducers, and stems are long and strong for excellent cutting. Plant height depends upon culture and climatic conditions, and may vary from 18 inches with four or five florets to four feet with five or ten florets per stem. "San Francisco" stood out as the most sturdy, beautiful and desirable of the Knee-Hi type. It was also the sturdiest, most vigorous, non-shattering, multi-flowered variety in the trials. Other colors of Knee-Hi are pure and good but the salmon-cream pink was voted the versatile leader, a real sweetheart.

Three Feet in Portola Valley

These new sweet peas were grown last year by Frank Cuthbertson, originator of the Cuthbertson Floribunda, at his home in Portla Valley. They were an average of three feet high and had been supported by a two-foot high strip of woven wire. The plants completely covered the wire and made a most attractive garden planting.

Foxglove or Digitalis "Foxy" was the only silver medal winner and barely missed the necessary award points for the elusive gold medal. Available in mixed colors, "Foxy" is the first and only biennial foxglove to bloom the first season. It takes only about five months from seeds, a very important breeding achievement. It may also be treated as a biennial.

Considered dwarf, it averages two and a half feet tall with as many as nine branch spikes besides the main spike. It comes in the usual color range of the best Excelsior type of white, cream, yellow, pink, lavender, magenta and purple, uniformly spotted. The darker colors seemed to bloom earliest and florets are closely spaced for 8 to 12 inches at top of spikes.

The plant spread is about 15 inches with vigorous sturdy growth and somewhat sparcer but darker rich green foliage for more attractive appearance.

Fl, hybrid Marigold "Golden Jubilee," is a new hedge or knee-high type of giant flowered marigold of about 20 inches in height with deep, almost ball-shaped, carnation-flowering blooms held above the foliage. Bright golden yellow, fully double flowers three and a half to four and a half inches in diameter, atop the vigorous bushy, compact plants make for excellent showy beds, borders or hedges of rich green foliage with about a 13 inch spread.

Judges invariably commented on the uniformity of the compact plants. These are about a foot shorter than the Climax type and slightly deeper in color than Golden Climax. "Golden Jubilee" is also earlier and more prolific blooming with a superior habit, is the concensus of the judges for this fine novelty.

Winning Vegetables

The 1967 vegetable awards are a Fl hybrid pepper "Bell Boy" and a Fl hybrid tomato "Spring Giant."

"Bell Boy" pepper has fruit that is medium long, blocky, mostly four-lobed and a deep glossy green, maturing early to deep red. The walls are thick and meaty, good fruit uniformity that hangs pendant on the plant. Plants grow 18 to 24 inches tall with large dark green leaves for good coverage. The plants are resistant to tobacco mosiac virus. This is an all-purpose sweet bell pepper and an excellent early cropper.

"Spring Giant" Fl hybrid tomato is a very heavy yielding, rich scarlet deep globular shaped fruit. Average size is seven to eight ounces with some weighing three-fourths of a pound, smooth and very heavy. The walls are thick, flesh meaty with a bright, deep red interior. Vigorous plants have dark green foliage for good protective cover over the fruit. Maturity of this prolific hybrid is early and concentrated. It is an all-purpose tomato for home gardens, local marketing, shipping and canning. It is resistant to both verticillium and fusarium wilts along with the highest yields.

We would like to call attention also to some of the 1965 and 1966 award winners, now in standard production and best of their kinds or types and colors to date. These varieties are still grown for your protection only from breeders' foundation stock seeds by their original growers, an All-America protection.

The 1966 flower winners were Cosmos "Sunset," (gold medal winner), the only red annual Klondyke cosmos; Snapdragon Fl hybrid "Bright Butterflies," tall, summer blooming, open faced snapdragons; Pansy, Fl hybrids "Giant Majestic" mixed and "White with Blotch"; the largest early, heat resisting, all season blooming pansy.

MARIGOLD "GOLDEN JUBILEE," a new hedge or knee-high type of giant flowered marigold with an almost ball-shaped, carnation-flower bloom on a uniformly compact plant.

Home and Garden

Decorations With Cones Pods, Leaves

Right after the holidays is the best time to start on next year's decorations. And here, to help is a new book by Eleanor Van Rensselaer, wife of the director of the Saratoga Horticultural Foundation at Saratoga, Calif., and author of two popular books, "Decorating with Pods and Cones," and "Decorating With Seed Mosaics, Chipped Glass and Plant Materials."

Fresh from the press is "New Decorations With Pods, Cones and Leaves," ($6.95) published by D. Van Nostrand Company, Princeton, N.J. In this book Eleanor Van Rensselaer doesn't confine herself to holiday decorations but branches out to show her readers how the simple, inexpensive materials provided by nature can be used to decorate the home and garden for every day of the year. In this section you will find lamp shades, panels for decorating outdoor patios and fences, an ornamental frame for an electric clock, light-switch plates and etc.

Some of the most delightful home ornaments have been made with pressed leaves showing their beautiful fall colors and distinctive shapes. In the chapter, "Decorations From the Sea," we were delighted to find a resin fish done by our seaweed friend, Priscilla Blesch, who has been a long-time friend of Mrs. Van Rensselar and one of her former students.

One of the outstanding things about Eleanor Van Rensselaer's book is her clear and careful directions. These, together with the 80 striking photographs (16 in color) guarantee her readers hours of pleasure in the creation of unique decorations for the home. Her accurate naming of the plant materials helps the reader and collector to identify their treasures and adds interest to this creative hobby.

WANT SOME IDEAS FOR YOUR HOME?

In our column this week we are happy to pass along a few additional decorating suggestions we haven't published before. Whether you use any of them or not, they may start you thinking about developing ideas of your own. Here are some ideas:

Invent some new uses for wall paper. It can be used most effectively in covering a waste basket, a small chest or a door. Consider using it on a bedroom ceiling or an arched or sloping ceiling.

Tired of the same old matching tables and lamps on each side of your sofa? Try using one round and one square table with one table lamp and a hanging chain lamp. Instead of the usual large picture or mirror over your sofa or fireplace, use a grouping of differently sized and framed pictures or make an interesting mixed group of both pictures and other wall ornaments.

Have your hallways been completely overlooked? They should be treated as part of your home. Bright wallpaper or pictures or a combination of both may make a great difference.

Did you ever consider what just one piece of new furniture can do for your living room? One outstanding serving table, cocktail table or chair can make a world of difference.

Through the years we have specialized in helping our customers find the right thing for the right place. We can help you, too.

Our decorators, here at Sterling Furniture in Westlake Shopping Center, are at your service no matter what your decorating problem may be. We are open Wednesday and Friday evenings 'til 9 p.m. for your shopping convenience. Call us at PL 6-7500.

Popular Vegetables Served Together

Easy to prepare and as delicious as it looks — that's "Green Beans and Potatoes Duchesse."

This appealing vegetable dish combines two favorite vegetables in convenient forms: instant mashed potatoes and canned green beans of the Blue Lake variety. Substitute cut Blue Lakes for the whole pack beans called for in the recipe, if you wish.

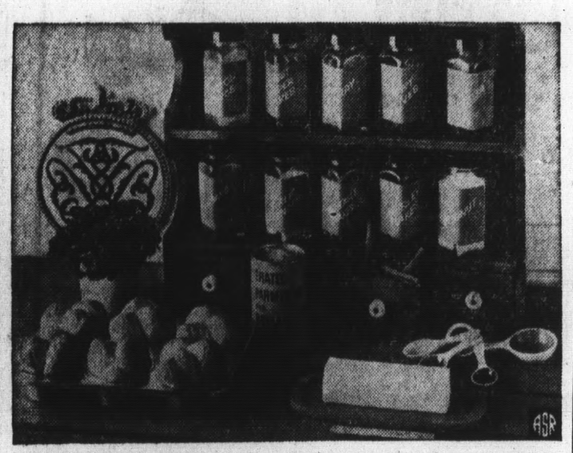
This two-in-one vegetable dish is good with any roast or broiled meats.

Green Beans and Potatoes Duchesse

- 2 tablespoons salad oil
- ¼ cup chopped onion
- 2 cans (1 lb. each) whole Blue Lake variety green beans
- 1 tablespoon vinegar
- ¼ teaspoon oregano, crushed
- ½ teaspoon seasoned salt
- 1 envelope (4 servings) instant mashed potatoes
- 2 egg yolks

Heat oil in saucepan. Add onion and sauté lightly. Drain beans, saving ¼ cup liquid. Add beans, liquid, vinegar, oregano and seasoned salt to mixture. Cover and simmer about 5 minutes. Meanwhile, prepare mashed potatoes as package directs. Beat in egg yolks. Arrange beans down center of shallow baking dish. Spoon potatoes in 6 puffs along both sides of beans. Bake in 350-degree (moderate) oven about 15 minutes or until potatoes are lightly browned. Garnish with pimiento strips if you wish. Makes 6 servings.

Modern Margarine Is a Good Mixer



Give that extra something to canapes and crackers, sandwiches and steaks by mixing Danish-flavor margarine with Wyler's spices and food flavorings. The Borden Kitchen offers these ideas:

Curry: Soften ¼ cup (½ stick) cold margarine in an electric mixer. Blend in ¼ teaspoon curry powder and a few grains salt. Cover and chill in the refrigerator. Serve with meats, fish, or vegetables.

Coconut: Soften ¼ cup (½ stick) cold margarine in an electric mixer. Blend in ½ teaspoon sugar and 1 tablespoon flaked coconut. Cover and chill. Serve with desserts, dessert sauces, and biscuits.

Cheese Croutons: Remove crusts from three slices of bread. Melt 2 tablespoons margarine; stir in 2 tablespoons Borden's Grated Parmesan and Romano Cheese. Spread both sides of each bread slice, then cut into small squares. Place on baking sheet and bake in a moderate (350° F.) oven for 15 minutes; turn frequently. Serve with salads, casseroles, soups.

Oregano: Soften ¼ cup (½ stick) cold margarine in an electric mixer. Blend in ¼ teaspoon dehydrated imported oregano. Chill in a covered container. For vegetables or fish.

Pepper or Vegetable: Soften ½ cup (1 stick) cold margarine in an electric mixer. Measure 1½ to 2 tablespoons dehydrated sweet pepper flakes or dehydrated mixed vegetable flakes. Soak flakes in 1 tablespoon hot water 3 to 4 minutes; drain. Blend with margarine in electric mixer. Cover and chill. Good in sauces, with fish or meat.

Steak Blend: Soften ¼ cup (½ stick) cold margarine in an electric mixer. Blend in 1 tablespoon steak sauce, ½ teaspoon lemon juice, and ¼ teaspoon freshly ground black pepper. Cover and chill.

Fish Blend: Soften ½ cup (1 stick) cold margarine in an electric mixer. Blend in ½ teaspoon pure garlic powder, 1 teaspoon dill weed, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, ¼ teaspoon freshly ground pepper, and 1 teaspoon paprika. Cover and refrigerate.

Cues on Custards: Try Applesauce

In colder weather the homemaker's eye often settles on apples, especially on the robust desserts they make. These Applesauce Custards from the Borden Kitchen are a treat for the cook as well as her company. Just blend the egg, applesauce, sweetened condensed milk, and lemon juice, then bake. Present chilled and crested with bright red maraschino cherries, nestled in peaks of whipped heavy cream.

Applesauce Custards

(Makes eight 5-ounce custards)

- 2 eggs, separated
- 1⅔ cups (one 15-ounce jar) applesauce
- 1⅓ cups (one 15-ounce can) Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk
- Juice of one lemon (approximately ⅓ cup)

In a large bowl beat egg yolks slightly. Add applesauce, condensed milk, and lemon juice; blend well. Beat the egg whites until stiff, but not dry. Fold into egg yolk mixture. Pour mixture into eight 5-ounce custard cups. Set cups in a 1-inch deep hot water bath. Bake in a slow (325°F.) oven 40 minutes, or until a knife inserted near the center of a custard comes out clean. Remove from hot water bath. Cool to room temperature away from draughts. Chill in refrigerator until serving time. If desired, garnish with whipped cream and maraschino cherries.

Top Beefburgers With Bit of Color

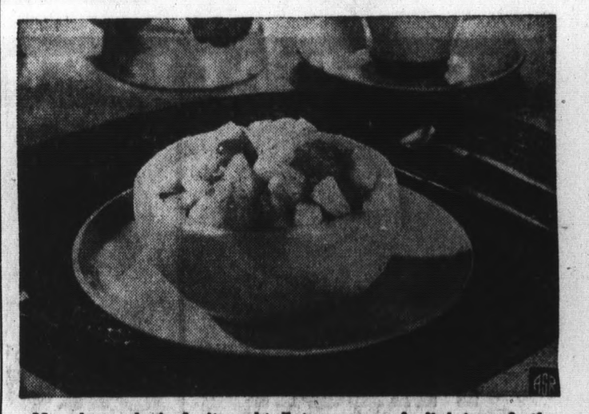
A great American favorite—the hamburger—pops up this time in new dress. Into succulent western beef go coarse crushed pretzel crumbs and accents of catsup and oregano. These give the burgers a nice nutty flavor. Thick slices of tomato, onion and green pepper garnish them festively. Top with a lemon wedge to squeeze over all before the dining begins. Ground chuck or round are excellent choices for plump and juicy grilled beefburgers.

Beefburger Grill Garni

- 1 pound ground lean beef
- ½ cup coarsely crushed pretzel crumbs
- 1 egg
- ¼ cup catsup
- 2 tablespoons water
- ⅛ teaspoon oregano
- ¼ teaspoon black pepper
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 4 tomato slices
- 4 sweet onion slices
- 4 green pepper rings
- 4 lemon wedges

Mix beef lightly with crumbs, egg, catsup, water and seasonings. Shape into 4 patties. Grill over low coals until cooked as desired. Top each with tomato slice, onion slice, green pepper ring and lemon wedge. Makes 4 servings.

Sweets for Dieter: The Word Is 'Yes'



New low calorie fruit cocktail turns grapefruit into a festive first course or dessert by making this attractive "fruit basket". The firm texture and fresh flavor of low calorie fruit cocktail is especially good with the tart grapefruit sections. And, good news for calorie watchers, this extra special dessert is 112 calories . . . an excellent substitute for a 350 calorie wedge of cake or pie. Or, if you're really being strict, ½ cup fruit cocktail is less than 40 calories.

Spiced Fruit Cup

- 2 grapefruit
- 1⅓ cups drained Low Calorie Fruit Cocktail (No. 303 or 1 lb. can)
- Nutmeg

Cut grapefruit in half and remove meat and membrane. Combine the grapefruit sections with the fruit cocktail. Spoon the fruit mixture into the grapefruit rinds and sprinkle with nutmeg. Chill before serving. Makes 2 servings, 112 calories per serving.

Quiche Americana Saves Penny, Time

A penny- and time-wise cook gets her greatest successes off to a speedy start with convenience foods. This Quiche Americana is an elegant example. The quickstep makings include nutty-sweet Gruyere Cheese, touched with the pungency of bacon and chives. For the heartiest of meals, the Borden Kitchen advises serving quiche piping hot with a mixed green salad.

Quiche Americana
(Makes one 10-inch pie)

- 1 (10-inch) unbaked pastry shell
- 4 eggs
- 2 cups homogenized milk
- ½ cup heavy cream
- ½ teaspoon salt
- Dash pepper
- 8 (1-oz. packages) Borden's Pasteurized Process Gruyere Cheese, shredded
- 8 slices cooked bacon, well drained and chopped
- ½ cup finely chopped fresh chives

Bake pastry shell in a hot (400°F.) oven 5 to 8 minutes or until pastry edges are lightly golden. Remove from oven; cool. In a medium-size mixing bowl combine the eggs, milk, cream, salt, and pepper. Beat with rotary beater until just blended. Stir in shredded cheese, chopped bacon and chives; blend thoroughly. Pour into cooled pastry shell. Bake in a moderate (350°F.) oven 40 minutes or until a knife inserted in center comes out clean and top is light golden brown. Allow to stand 5 minutes at room temperature before cutting. An excellent main dish served piping hot with a mixed green salad.

40 Students Attend Mass For a Class

Forty members of St. Veronica's High School of Religion in South San Francisco recently attended Sunday mass at the Russian Catholic Church, which fulfilled their Sunday obligation, as part of their newly organized comparative religion class, under the direction of teachers Mrs. Marijuel Borges and Charles Foos.

Following this a class on the Eastern Rite was taught by Brother John Samaha, S.M., assistant director of the Archdiocesan closed circuit television station.

Brother John lived two years in Lebannon, teaching English at St. Joseph's School at Cornet Chawane. He is Lebanese and speaks Syriac, the language of the eastern rite (Moronite) of Lebannon and the language Christ spoke when he was living, reported Mrs. Michael Ruane, publicity chairman.

Other religions studied and compared this semester by the group included: Presbyterian, Episcopal, Lutheran, Jehovah's Witnesses, Mormons, Judaism, Baptist, Seventh Day Adventists and Christan Science.

Greet the Chinese New Year in American Way

Now that the American holiday season is over, add some excitement to your winter menus by celebrating Chinese New Year . . . American-style. By sparking your dishes with popular Oriental ingredients such as fried rice, water chestnuts, chow mein noodles and bean sprouts, you can add exotic flair to your recipes with a minimum of work.

In traditional Chinese lore, the fish is a symbol of wealth and abundance. For a fish dish that's festive family fare, and is also perfect for the next luncheon you give, try a Lotus Blossom Salmon Loaf.

This delicate fish loaf features a surprise ingredient . . . fried rice with shrimp . . . which comes already canned for your convenience. Topped with hot lemon and butter sauce, it blends the best of two worlds . . . East and West.

Far East Fruit Salad makes an excellent accompaniment to your salmon loaf. This colorful and crunchy side dish gets its crispness from a bed of chow mein noodles as well as from the water chestnuts included in the ingredients (water chestnuts have a moderate taste, and add a wonderful crispness to whatever food they're used in). If you prefer a vegetable salad, just mix some bean sprouts through your favorite combination of greens.

Round out your American-Oriental meal with tea.

To make Chinese-style tea, rinse a crockery or china pot with boiling water. Put 2 tablespoons of tea in the pot for every 4 cups of water, or 2-3 teaspoon tea for each cup. Pour boiling water over the tea; cover the pot and let it stand for 3 to 5 minutes before serving.

Top off your Chinese New Year's season meal with some (which are available in packaged form), and you'll wind up with a festive meal fit for the Chinese Kitchen God . . . and fresh fruit and fortune cookies your hungry family and guests.

SALMON LOAF LOTUS BLOSSOM

1 can (13½-ounce) fried rice with shrimp
1 can (1 pound) pink salmon, flaked
2 eggs, slightly beaten
3 tablespoons lemon juice
Fine bread crumbs
¼ cup hot melted butter
Parsley, half lemon slices, scallion and canned water chestnuts for garnish

Combine fried rice with salmon, eggs and 1 tablespoon lemon juice; mix well. Pack into 1-quart loaf pan which has been greased and dusted with fine dry bread crumbs. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) for 1 hour. Cool in pan for 10 minutes to set. Loosen edges with sharp knife; tap pan to loosen bottom, and unmold on a platter. Garnish with half lemon slices and parsley.

For flower garnish, arrange a sprig of scallion on top of loaf. Cut water chestnuts into thin round slices; cut slices into halves and arrange in pinwheel fashion at top of scallion sprig.

Combine remaining 2 tablespoons lemon juice with hot melted butter; serve warm in small bowl. Cut loaf into slices and top with lemon-butter sauce.

Makes 6 servings.

FAR EAST FRUIT SALAD

1 can (5-ounce) chow mein noodles
1 cup canned Mandarin orange sections, drained
2 cups grapefruit segments, drained
1½ cups pineapple chunks, drained
1 can (5-ounce) water chestnuts, drained
¼ cup French dressing
¼ cup sesame seeds, optional

Make beds of chow mein noodles on 6 individual salad plates. Arrange drained orange sections, grapefruit segments, pineapple chunks and water chestnuts on noodles. (Water chestnuts can be used whole or sliced; if using whole water chestnuts, halve large ones.) Top with French dressing.

If desired, sprinkle salad with sesame seeds which have been toasted in a small skillet over low heat, and stirred until golden brown

Makes 6 servings.

Cream Those Potatoes

Have you tried creamed potatoes with cooked, crumbled bacon? It's a delicious combination! It can be as much of a favorite as leftover fried potatoes in which you've pointed up the flavor by using bacon and chopped onion.

Potatoes, prepared either creamed or fried (top-of-the-range cookery), are excellent with broiled dinners since the broiler will cook the meat, letting the homemaker use surface units for vegetables as well as potatoes.

Garnish soups for extra flavor and appearance. Sprinkle crisp bacon bits on tomato, vegetable green pea, and cream soups.

A Black Walnut Seasonal Delight

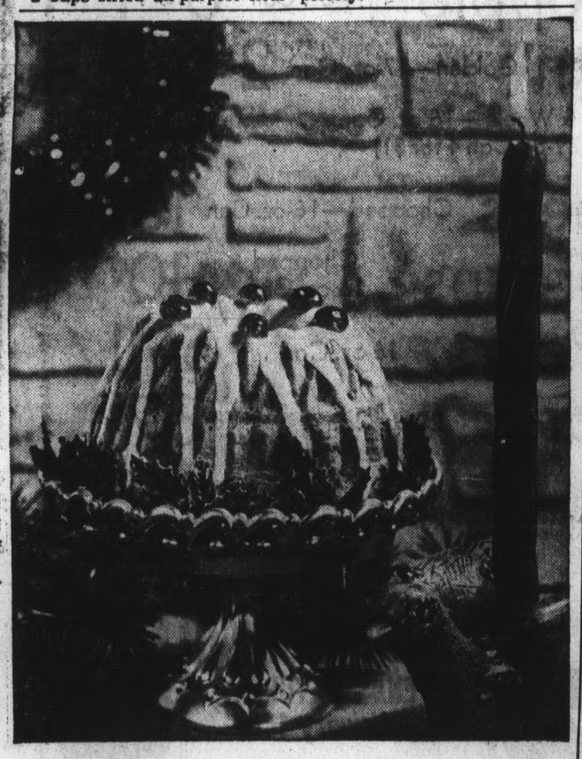
Brighten your sideboard with this rich butter cake lightened an all-purpose dessert created with egg whites and brimming with chopped black walnuts. It's by home economists that will be a tasty "Top-off" to a meal or as a treat for "drop-ins."

Black Walnut Delight can be made in an ordinary loaf pan or in a shaped mold for variety and greater attractiveness. To add a festive flair, top cake with simple confectioners' sugar icing and glace' cherry halves and trim with holly leaves around the base.

BLACK WALNUT DELIGHT

½ cup (1 stock) butter
1 cup sugar
4 eggs, separated
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
½ cup milk
1 cup finely chopped Black Walnuts

Cream butter and sugar until light. Beat in egg yolks, one at a time. Add vanilla. Sift dry ingredients together, reserving ¼ cup. Add to creamed mixture alternately with milk, beginning and ending with dry ingredients. Mix together remaining flour and walnuts; add to batter, mixing just until blended. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry; fold into batter. Pour into greased and floured 9x5x3-inch (2 qt.) loaf pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 50 to 60 minutes. Cool in pan or wire rack 5 minutes. Turn onto rack and cool completely.



FLUFFED WITH EGG WHITES and chock full of crunchy chopped black walnuts, this butter cake will serve as a delightful finale to a special dinner or as a snack for members of the family or friends home for the holidays.

Butterfudge Pumpkin Ice Cream Pie Treat

Here's a seasonal treat for those in your family who just can't seem to ever get enough chocolate. To make it even more appealing, it's an ice cream pie with a pat-in-the-pie-pan cookie crust made with creamery butter and chocolate.

You can make the crust a day ahead and add the filling just before serving. Here's the recipe: ½ cup soft butter, ¼ cup sifted confectioner's sugar, ½ teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 2 squares (2 ounces) semi-sweet chocolate, melted, 1 quart hand-packed Baskin-Robbins Pumpkin Pie Ice Cream, and 1 cup fudge topping or chocolate syrup.

Mix butter, sugar and vanilla thoroughly. Sift flour and salt. Add to butter mixture and blend. Add melted chocolate and blend thoroughly. Chill for about 30 minutes, meanwhile heat oven to 400 degree (moderately hot). Pat dough in 9-inch ungreased pie pan. Flute edge, prick. Bake 10 to 12 minutes. Cool. Just before serving fill with spoonsful of Pumpkin Pie Ice Cream. Top with fudge topping or chocolate syrup.

Meat Cuts Are Loaded

Meat cuts are loaded with vitamins and minerals. They also have a big plus in the protein they contain for that's a complete protein, which means that the protein in meat has all the essential amino acids.

A single serving of cooked pork (3½ ounces) furnishes more thiamine (vitamin B1) than the average woman needs daily—129 per cent—while a man, 86 per cent, for example. This same amount furnishes 40 per cent of the protein the body needs.

A Paisano Party for Your Gang

Next time the teen crowd assembles at your home, make it a real "happening" — Mexican-style! The exuberance and good fellowship of Mexico itself is best reflected in a "paisano" party ("paisano" is Spanish for countryman or neighbor) — one that's colorful and sparkling with fun. Clearly a made-to-order situation for teen-agers.

No problem at all with the menu — you serve the bright-flavored new frozen prepared Mexican style entrees. Our teen table is set with the beef tamale entree — three big, beef-filled tender tamales in meaty chili sauce.

However, we might also have served either the beef or cheese enchilada entree. Each features two large enchiladas in chili sauce with meat. Why not have all three on hand, and let the kids pick their favorite!

No need to tell you either, Mom, how easy the party will be for you because all preparation of these complicated Mexican style favorites has been done for you. Just pop 'em into the oven to heat — and serve right in their aluminum trays. No dish-washing.

Icy-cold cola goes well with the dinners (cola drinks are almost as popular in Mexico as here) or serve a cold fruit punch or hot Mexican chocolate. Have some crisp vegetable relishes to nibble on, too. Keep the atmosphere "authentico" with decor, too, that's inherently Mexican — straw mats, heavy glassware, and even a bulfighting poster, if you like. Complete the "staging" with a stack of mariachi band records on the hi-fi!

Don't think, however, that you have to have a party as an excuse to try these frozen prepared tamale or enchilada entrees — or any of the new products in this fascinating line of frozen foods. Your family will welcome their mealtime "change-of-pace" flavors, and you'll appreciate their quick-fix ease of preparation.

For real convenience, serve the frozen prepared dinners in the line. The first is the frozen prepared beef enchilada dinner — it features a hearty serving of two man-sized beef-filled enchiladas topped with cheese and served in chili sauce with meat. Also in the dinner are servings of refried beans and Mexican style rice, plus, as a special bonus, hot pepper sauce.

The second frozen prepared dinner in this fiesta of Mexican foods is the three course Mexican style dinner — with everything from soup to dessert! The soup course is tempting vegetable-beef-bouillon with tiny tortillas (such fun!); in Mexico they call the soup "sopa de tortillas."

From the soup course you go to a spicily inviting entree of a beef tamale and beef enchilada in meaty chili sauce compelmented with servings of Mexican style rice and refried beans. Dessert is creamy, delectable "puddin de manzana" — apple vanilla pudding.

Many months of research went into the adaptation of native Mexican recipes for all the products in this intriguing line of frozen prepared foods so that each dish as the authentic flavor, color, and texture of its native counterpart.

KIDS (OF ALL AGES!) will be delighted when you plan a Mexican party just for them. Serve any of the new frozen prepared Mexican style products, like these beef tamales in chili sauce with meat. All are ready to heat 'n' eat!

It's Eggs 'n Spice —Everything Nice

Eggs and spice and everything nice — that's what this Apple Spice Omelet is made of. It's a real treat and especially appropriate now because January has been designated as National Egg Month.

An economical source of high quality protein, eggs can be used as the main dish in any meal or even as a dessert such a this Apple Spice Omelet.

The basic omelet recipe given here can be used with an endless variety of sauces and fillings from soup to nuts. Did you ever try one with a sauce made from undiluted cream of mushroom soup? Or what about a filling of chopped pecans and sliced, sugared bananas? With a little imagination, you can make your own combination of ingredients to suit your taste.

This Apple Spice Omelet combines apples, cinnamon and sugar in a delicious filling, much like that in apple pie. The delicate flavor of the omelet goes well with this filling and makes this dish one of the most nutritious desserts you can serve your family. But, don't just serve it to family — it's nice enough for company, too.

Include omelets in your menus often. They'll stretch your food dollars and at the same time, give more flair to your meals.

APPLE SPICE OMELET

Filling:
- 2 apples, cored and sliced
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- ½ teaspoon cinnamon
- Dash of nutmeg

Omelet:
- 2 eggs
- 2 tablespoons water
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon butter

Cook apples in butter in small skillet until tender (about 5 minutes). Sprinkle brown sugar, cinnamon and nutmeg over apples and mix well. Makes enough filling for 2 to 3 omelets.

To prepare omelet: Mix eggs, water and salt with a fork. Heat butter in omelet pan or skillet (approx. 8 in.) just hot enough to sizzle drop of water. Pour in egg mixture. Mixture should set at edges at once. With a spatula or fork, carefully draw cooked portions at edges toward center, so that uncooked portions flow to bottom. Slide pan rapidly back and forth over heat to keep mixture in motion and sliding freely. When eggs are set and surface is still creamy, increase heat to brown bottom quickly. Place ¼ cup apples in center of omelet, fold on plate. Place ¼ cup apples and juice on top of omelet and serve. Makes one serving.

Trimming The Calories

If one of your resolutions has you trimming your calories, consider the low-calorie content of variety meats, to help make the diet interesting.

Three and one-half ounces of cooked beef heart or kidney or liver (or pork liver) yield less than 200 calories, but they give a big nutrition wallop in the form of protein, vitamins and minerals.

Slightly over 12 million persons lived on U.S. farms during 1965, about 6.4 per cent of the total population.

86% Live in Cities

County Population Placed at 549,000

San Mateo County's population as of January 1 was 549,000, according to an estimate made by Marty Boat of the County Planning Office.

He estimated that 474,000, or 86.4 per cent of the total, live in the county's 18 cities.

Boat said his figures are only estimates and are not the result of extensive research and analysis. They are intended to indicate the "general order of magnitude" of the population of various county areas, not to serve as an official population count, Boat said.

His figures show San Mateo remains as the county's largest city with a population of 80,000. Other cities: Daly City, 62,000; Redwood City, 58,000; South San Francisco, 44,000; San Bruno, 36,000; Pacifica, 34,000; Menlo Park, 30,000; Burlingame, 27,500; San Carlos, 26,000; Belmont, 23,500; Millbrae, 21,000; Atherton, 8,500; Hillsborough, 8,500; Woodside, 4,000; Brisbane , 3,500; Half Moon Bay, 3,500; Portola Valley, 3,500; Colma, 500.

Boat estimated the population of unincorporated East Palo Alto at 22,000, larger than nine of the cities. Other unincorporated areas: North Fairoaks (between Redwood City and Atherton) 11,000; Broadmoor-Colma, 7,000; Coastside (minus Half Moon Bay), 7,000; Foster City, 5,000; West Menlo Park, 5,000; Highlands-Baywood Park (west of San Mateo), 4,500; Redwood-Atherton, 4,000; Emerald Lake (west of Redwood City), 3,500; Ladera, 2,000.

Jeff OK's Summer School Plans

Jefferson Elementary School District trustees last week approved a summer school program for 1967 based upon the same general format as the 1966 program, which served 3,318 students.

Summer classes will be held at the eight district schools used last year, beginning June 26 and continuing through July 28. Classes will be scheduled 8:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m. each weekday.

Superintendent Frank Greenwood said enrollment in the 1966 summer school program showed an increase of 72 per cent over the 1964 enrollment. No summer session was offered in 1965.

The summer classes will be based upon a four-phase program, the superintendent said, offering remedial classes in the basic subjects, corrective classes for students slightly below grade level, "interest" classes in a wide variety of subjects and special ability classes in instrumental music, language arts, science and mathematics.

The district will provide bus transportation, and students may enroll in one, two, three, or four classes.

Twelve North San Mateo County students were among the 1,085 at the University of Cailfornia at Davis who have been named to the deans' honor lists for maintaining a "B" average in the 1966 spring semester in the colleges of agriculture, engineering, and letters and science.

They include:

Daly City — David O. Fletcher, engineering; David S. Pass, L&S.

South San Francisco — Sandra L. Maas, agriculture.

Council Will Set Hearing

South San Francisco city officials received two letters that are appealing a planning commission decision last week to grant a use permit for a garbage incineration plant in the city's industrial park.

The appeals were from J. Jacobs and Company, a men's accessories distributor with headquarters at 214 Harris Street, and from attorneys representing Wilson and George Meyers and Company, the Gilmore Company, and member firms of the South San Francisco Industrial Park Association.

City Atty. John Noonan said a date for a public hearing on the matter will be set at the next regular council meeting.

Planning commissioners granted the use permit to the South San Francisco Scavenger Company December 27. The permit is for a $2 million "solid waste incineration plant" to be located at the northwest corner of Harbor Way and Mitchell Avenue in the industrial park.

Neighboring firms are contesting the application on "esthetic grounds," and attorneys for the Industrial Park Association said member firms will "definitely resist the establishment of the plan to the fullest extent."

Under South San Francisco's zoning ordinance the planning commission has full powers to grant or deny use permits, with appeal to the city council the only recourse for contestants.

In other business Tuesday, councilmen adopted a resolution apporving the proposal of Markling-Yamasaki Architects for conducting a survey and preparing plans for the rejuvenation of the city's downtown business district.

The firm's proposal calls for the formulation of plans for traffic flow, parking areas, store-to-parking ratios and rejuvenation of Grand Avenue and Third and Fourth lanes.

The architects will also prepare cost estimates of the program and prepare and present feasible methods of financing the project. Total cost of the plans will be $8,500. The firm's proposal was recommended by City Planner Daniel Pass, City Mgr. Eugene Aiello, and Edward Rodondi and John Susa, members of the Chamber of Commerce rejuvenation committee.

The council also voted to extend the bond on development of Alta Vista Number Two subdivison on the recommendation of Public Works Director Louis Goss.

Richard A. Pahl, developer of the five-lot subdivision, requested a six-month extension on the project after he experienced difficulties with financing because of the "tight money" situation, Goss said.

The extension was granted on condition of approval by Pahl's Bonding Company.

Quiet Meet For Jefferson School Board

Jefferson Elementary School District trustees had a quiet meeting by past standards last Tuesday, with Superintendent Frank Greenwood, Trustee Peter Galiano and Woodrow Wilson — John F. Kennedy P-TA President Mrs. Dorothy Adams exchanging amenities during an orderly session.

The meeting started out on a precarious basis, with a letter containing Mrs. Adam's rebuttal to Greenwood's rebuttal to her original contentions about what she regarded as inadequacies in the district on the agenda for discussion.

And Galiano, armed with some rather dramatic statistics on a singular lack of success in Greenwood's out-of-state teacher recruitment program last year, seemed on the verge of disrupting the quietude of the new year.

But the session failed to live up to its early promise, or lack of such, and progressed though to the end in a spirit of fellowship and good will.

Mrs. Adams, after hearing a somewhat impassioned plea for peace and understanding from board member Joseph Lewkowitz, agreed to forego an answer to her rebuttal of the rebuttal when Greenwood said he would make it a formal practice in the future to present to the board all matters involving the transfer of SCOPE materials or other tangible aids to education from one school to another.

One of Mrs. Adams' primary complaints against the district administration has involved the removal of certain SCOPE funds and materials from the Woodrow Wilson School.

Galiano, after precipitating some precarious moments during the discussion of out-of-state teacher recruitment, apologized to the superintndent for what he termed "the board's shirking of its responsibility in the matter of answering Mrs. Adams' charges."

"It was not fair to place the burden of this responsibility upon the superintendent," the trustee said. "It was plainly the duty of the board members to answer Mrs. Adams' charges.

At the board meeting two weeks ago, Galiano said he wished to disassociate himself from the superintendent's remarks to Mrs. Adams, and he considered Greenwood's statements "unbecoming to a man in his position."

In the only dispute to arise during Tuesday night's meeting, Galiano balked at the superintendent's request for approval to spend $5,000 budgeted for out-of-state teacher recruitment.

The trustees produced figures from last year's budget which indicaet the district spent approximately $3,000 for out-of-state recruiting, "and didn't recruit a single teacher."

Greenwood conceded the point, and said "the district's success varies from year to year in this program, but we still feel it is essential to keeping up the high quality of our staff."

Further discord was avoided when trustees voted to postpone consideration of the teacher recruitment budget until a future meeting.

Coast Dog Duplex Fire

An elaborate doggie duplex went up in smoke at 11:59 p.m. in Pacifica last Wednesday.

Pacifica firemen said a neighbor, a minute before midnight, saw the outdoor doghouse — built to accommodate two canines in duplex styling — in flames.

When they arrived, firemen found the 4x6 "structure" completely "involved."

It was about 30 feet to the rear of the Betty Taforo home at 1326 Lerida, in the Linda Mar District.

A fire department spokesman said the "duplex," as it is listed on fire reports, was "pretty elaborate, as far as dog houses go."

The blaze started, he said, when an electric light bulb in the doghouse — there evidently for heat for the animals — apparently overheated blankets.

Extension cords had been strung from the main house to the dog house.

Daly City $500 Theft

More than $500 in cash and property were taken in two daytime burglaries in Daly City Friday, police reported.

The home of a West Market Street resident, Chester H. Bratt, was burglarized between 12:30 p.m. and 1:30 p.m., officers said. About $200 in cash was taken from the home.

The office at St. Martin's Episcopal Church on Southgate Avenue was also burglarized Friday, and an electric typewriter valued at about $300 was removed.

Pyracantha Is Times Plant of the Week

Plant of the Week is pyracantha graberi, espaliered to tree shape on the garage wall of the Jacob Galinsky home at 1119 Annapolis Street, San Mateo. The large clusters of bright red berries decorate the trees making them a natural for the Christmas holidays.

Pyracantha is from the Greek for fire and thorn thus its common name is "Firethorn." Pyracantha graberi is a variety of P. yunnanensis from Asia. All of the pyracanthas are thorny shrub members of the rose family and all of them originated in Asia. However, since arriving in this country many new improved forms have been made available to the gardening public. As gardens became smaller the thorny pyracantha slipped in popularity in spite of the showy berries curing the grey days of winter. Then, nurserymen began to adapt them to espalier training and they have again climbed to the top of the list of decorative garden plants. Pyracantha graberi is especially well suited for espalier training.

Mrs. Galinsky could not remember the particular named form of this pyracantha which decorates the garage wall which parallels the walk leading to her front door. However, we believe it to be the variety "San Jose" because of the large berries of such good red color in December. If you are interested in growing a pyracantha espalier, now, while the plants are in good berry, would be an excellent time to choose your plant to train.

The Galinskys started their espaliered pyracanthas about eight years ago. The original plan was to stretch them out to cover all but the window of the garage wall. But, as the plants grew and seemed inclined to assume a tree shape, they decided to go along with the plants. The planting space is barely a foot wide and anything but a compact espalier would interfere with the use of the entrance walk. The pyracantha filled their need perfectly. The space between the two pyracanthas is planted to dwarf English box, a perfect complement to the espaliered trees.

The pyracanthas ask for no special care and can tolerate a fair amount of neglect. However, if you wish clean healthy plants that can take the close scrutiny which the Galinsky plants get from every visitor, you will need to spray them a couple of times with malathion as the Galinskys do or fertilize them with one of the new fertilizers that contain a systemic insecticide.

We did not see any worms on these pyracanthas so we are unable to say just which bug pest has to be treated but a systemic insectide applied in spring will kill any chewing or sucking insect.

However, fire blight, a dying back of the branches of the plant, is one of the greatest dangers to pyracanthas in this area. Keeping plants free of insects that can carry the disease and good garden housekeeping is the best safeguard. If this problem strikes a plant, suspect any dead or dying branch, cut the infected branch back to clean healthy wood. Do not make a second cut or handle the healthy wood until both hands and shears are thoroughly cleaned and the shears disinfected.

Pruning pyracantha espaliers consists of pinching to direct and control the growth of the plant. Keep in mind that berries are borne on second-year wood so when pruning cut the branches that have berried back to a lateral. Mrs. Galinsky forgot this one year and pruned their plants hard. The next year she had no berries.

Display Of Pruning

Of particular interest to rose culturists and garden hobbyists is an event coming up next Tuesday at 8 p.m. which will bring advice and instruction on winter pruning problems.

Gordon Baker Lloyd, famous horticultural expert and lecturer, will conduct a Rose Pruning Class for all those interested in rose culture and care.

The class will be held at the Chadbourne School Auditorium, located at the corner of Lewis Street and Chadbourne Street in Millbrae.

The class will review the new roses for 1967, in addition to receiving instructional information and guidance regarding the pruning and feeding of planted roses.

Refreshments will be served. The event is free, with no admission charge or other obligation.

Fuchsia Unit Tells Leaders

Thomas H. Oliver, 548 Sapphire Street, Redwood City, is the 1967 president of the San Mateo County Fuchsia Society. Serving with Oliver are: Carl Davis, first vice president; Mrs. Celine Chase, second vice president; Mrs. Dale MacFarlane, recording secretary; Mrs. William Warwick, San Mateo, corresponding secretary; George Nelson, Redwood City, treasurer.

The San Mateo County Branch of the American Fuchsia Society meets the second Tuesday evening of each month at 8 in the Machinist Building, 150 South Boulevard, San Mateo.

The January 10 meeting will feature member participation in the important task of pruning and repotting fuchsia plants. Visitors are welcomed.

Ruth Griffin's Sketches Are Carrousel Feature

ONE OF THE BIGGEST HITS of the New Year's Eve party at the Carrousel restaurant, located next to the Circle Star Theater, San Carlos, was the amusing sketches of guests drawn by renowned artist and illustrator, Ruth Griffin. The petite, vivacious redhead will be in the restaurant every Saturday evening and Tuesday opening show nights to do sketches of patrons for $1 each. Miss Griffin, a San Mateo resident, paints award-winning Christmas cards, illustrates for national magazines and children's books, and draws posters for the Pacific Telephone Company. The beautiful water colors are on display at Darien Gallery, San Mateo, and other Peninsula art galleries . . . Jim Hamilton, general manager of the Hotel Canterbury, has appointed Bud Bernard, former manager of the Californian Hotel for 16 years, as his assistant manager at the Canterbury.

EVERYONE IS BUZZING about the success of the Fork 'n Cork restaurant. Lusty meals, cheerful service and a pleasant atmosphere usually make for a successful dining spot — and that's exactly what Julie and Vic Proul and Claudia and Joerg Krumpholz offer at their Fork 'n' Cork . . . The Sheriff's Air Squadron of San Francisco held its annual election of officers and installation of new members at a dinner-meeting on Tuesday at South San Francisco's Holiday Inn. San Francisco Sheriff Matthew Carberry was on hand to conduct swearing-in ceremonies for new members. Squadron Commander Harold Morton of San Francisco presided over the meeting in the Alta Mira and El Camino rooms of the Holiday Inn . . . It comes as no surprise that the past year was a busy one for the New Southern restaurant, South San Francisco. Rene and Julio Donati, and co-owner Nick Sparra feature southern-style cooking and atmosphere reminiscent of the old South, and it's a pleasure to dine in the relaxed "southern" manner.

THE ITALIAN DECOR AT RUDOLFO'S in Palo Alto looks more so, these days, because a stunning lady named Loren is here. She's not Sophia, the actress, but Kathy Loren, a curvey cocktail waitress who has all the eye-appeal of the star. Born in San Francisco, the blue-eyed blonde lived in Japan for five years . . . Opening tonight in the San Francisco Playboy Penthouse is the San Francisco Bay Area's own Albert T. Barry, a bright young comedian described by local critics as "The best of a new breed of comics" . . . The Pub So-Ho in Burlingame is where the after-work crowd gathers these cool evenings for their favorite relaxers. King-sized cocktails are served, and Happy Hours, normally of an evening, are present all the time. Owners Joe and Dan France recently installed a new dance floor, which is put to good use on the weekends by swingers . . . The fabulous Romanos will do a fine job of entertaining you while dining at the Blue Peacock restaurant in Millbrae.

Kathy Loren

OLD FRIENDS OF TOM ZUCCHELLI are consistently dropping by Bruno's on Third Avenue to say "hello" and to enjoy lunch or dinner. Recent visitors here were Fran and Andy Gill, who reminisced back to "Butchertown" days when they used to drop by Mama Zuchelli's house for raviolis. Whatever your memories, if it's ravioli or a delicious steak you desire, you'll find the food prepared by Chef Bruno Fava palate satisfying . . . Topless Tara, who once was Judy Brockhau and a Los Gatos High School majorette, and who now stars at George Frangi's Brass Rail, Sunnyvale, is featured in a six-page layout in this month's True Magazine . . . The Leaning Tower in South San Francisco was jam-packed with early New Year's celebrants, last weekend. Owner Joe Ercoli and his staff have worked hard to make banquet facilities a big draw here. Many of the local civic and business groups make the 'Tower' their "happy hunting grounds." . . . Dr. Thomas Fullenlove gave a dinner for 65 friends in the Plaza Room of the Fior d'Italia.

ONE OF THE NIGHTLY SHOW-STOPPERS at Finocchio's North Beach club is talented Laverne Cummings, whose glamorous makeup and beautiful wardrobe, plus his fabulous singing voice, fools even the regulars at this famous house of female impersonators. Laverne's performance has been attracting the attention of the Hollywood scouts, and has led to at least one audition already. So it will be no surprise if he is signed one of these days for a singing role in an important movie. . . Was delighted, but certainly not amazed, at the enormous luncheon crowd at the South San Francisco International Inn, one noonday last week. General Manager Phil Rauscher, an old hand at being the congenial, hospitable host, admits that it's like that everyday . . . The Hi-Fi Room South, plush new lounge at Third Avenue and El Camino, will be celebrating a grand opening within the next couple of weeks. Host-owners Joe Borges and Ben Muniz have the occasion set for the 13th, 14th and 15th of this month. A free buffet dinner will be served from 2 p.m. to 2 a.m. on each of these days.

ERNEST LUISETTI AND MAURICE BROSSIER are placing any item on their La Touraine menu on a take-out basis — and the idea is proving popular with discriminating residents in the area. French dinners, complemented by fine wines, are a house specialty at this splendid French restaurant in Burlingame . . . The East beat the West in football, but the West is outstanding in Greek dancing, according to Louie Gundunas of the Balkan Village, Los Altos. West Head Coach Ben Martin, of the Air Force Academy, and his assistant, Nick Leondis, spent an evening of dancing and dining at the restaurant-supperclub. Bill Quayle, also a coach from the West, and his wife, Phyllis, were also in the party . . . During his free time, Larry Bertolucci, whose San Francisco restaurant bears his name, enjoys visiting the golf links at the Green Hills Country Club in Millbrae. Could be that's why you see so many of the golf fraternity enjoying cocktails and the tasty hot hors d'oeuvres at the restaurant's 19th hole.

Hyatt House For Any Party Occasion

Now that the Hyatt Cinema is open, the beautiful Hyatt House Restaurant and Coffee Shop have become two of the "action" centers for the after-movie crowds. You'll find these to be perfect places for entertaining on any occasion. Dinner-dancing to Bob Wellman's orchestra in the magnificent Scheherazade Room; Rosemarie and Vickie at the Pianobar in the Tourney Room.

Romano's Pizza Still Tops the List

Am long overdue to visit my good friend Enrico Romano, the Italian food expert over Pacifica way. Wonder how many of you know that Henricetta, Enrico's mother, and he were the pizza pioneers of this area. Romano's pizza still rates at the top of the list, even with all of today's competition in this field.

☆

A big treat in downtown San Mateo is the family dinner for six served at Sun's Cafe on South B Street. Chinese food with a flavor of the old country is featured, and you'll find the prices almost unbelievable. Take out food is also available.

☆

The recently opened The Trip has added something new and exciting — Happy Hours, "Trip," style. Every evening from 4 p.m. on, Owner Yvonne Modica will offer "Happy Hours" with beautiful go-go girls and beertenders.

☆

Greatest treat of an evening: Sit down at a table with Sil Oliva and enjoy the tales he can spin about the old days on Fisherman's Wharf. His Exposition Fish Grotto has been a dining landmark in this area since the first day crabmeat was "discovered."

☆

Taste tip at Plateau 7 in San Jose: "Poulet en Cocotte Flambe Mephisto." A number one special that's only $8.65 on the complete dinner for two. An epicurean delight!

☆

The Fuji Sukiyaki crew is back from another vacation and willing, ready and able to serve you the finest in Japanese dishes. Family-style servings are a house specialty.

☆

Prime Rib Inn owner Louis Torres and wife, Elodia, were holiday hosts to Louis' sister, Maria de Ybarrondo, and hubby, Ford. The De Ybarrondos, who manage Louis' Cabana Restaurant in Anchorage, Alaska, consider our winters "balmy," compared to their frigid climate up north.

☆

If you're in the mood for a different type of meal, you just have to try Toshio Kiyohara's Irifune restaurant. The Japanese dishes of many different flavors are served in an atmosphere of Oriental splendor.

☆

Wondering who the new, cute and curvy cocktail waitress is in the Airport's Hilton Inn Mark Twain Lounge? Understand her name is Beate, and she hails from Hamburg, Germany.

"Holiday in Mexico" Big Sinaloa Hit

Vickie Alvarez, Sinaloa's vivacious "New Year's Baby," welcomed the new year in grand style — with her new wardrobe dazzling the fashionable ladies in the audience. Owner Luz Garcia features an all-Latin cast in the new hit, "Holiday in Mexico," which includes many top recording stars of that country.

Donald O'Connor Headlines At Harrah's Reno

DONALD O'CONNOR
Harrah's Reno

Donald O'Connor, a bright blue-eyed Irishman, drenched in show biz tradition, opened a two-and-one-half-week engagement in the Headliner Room at Harrah's Reno, last evening, and wow! He performs as if he's afraid someone is going to send the diners home the moment he stops to take a deep breath. So he doesn't.

He race-horses through some patches of choreography that calls for leaps and vaults. He sings in the same lilting voice with which he crooned to Debbie Reynolds in "Singing in the Rain," though, at Harrah's, jokes burst forth between the composer's lines.

☆

A pianobar has been added to the High Iron restaurant in Pacifica, and it's meeting with much after-dinner approval. Co-owner Guy Falchi introduced it before Christmas, not really planning to keep it permanently, but just to use it through the holidays. Visit here soon for a gourmet dinner, and afterwards, an enjoyable evening of sing-a-long at the piano.

☆

All-star entertainment is currently on tap at the Cabana Hotel in Palo Alto, where beautiful and shapely vocalist Kitty Kover is establishing herself as an all-time favorite in Nero's Nook, each evening starting at 8:30 p.m.

☆

David Rose, in San Francisco for the opening of "The Bible," for which he composed and played the musical score, dropped into Lew Lehr's in SF's Marina for a steak dinner.

☆

Woodlake Joe's is the only Peninsula restaurant of its type serving Italian food in the traditional a la carte style. Open daily from 11 a.m. to midnight. A fireplace cocktail lounge is also a bright part of this operation.

LORI ENGLISH
Cameo Club

Lorie English To Cameo Club

Beginning January 16, every Monday is Cameo Swing Night at the Cameo Club, Palo Alto. The great trombonist Sammy Blank, who was featured with the Ted Lewis band for many years, will be starred. His music and comedy, a Topless go-go girl, and dancing will be on the new program. The Cameo's regular Topless, exotic and variety shows continues Tuesdays through Sundays. Lovely chanteuse Lori English has returned to the show.

☆

Situated right at the water's edge on Fisherman's Wharf, the Franciscan restaurant is one of the most outstanding dining spots in San Francisco. You get a panoramic view of in-coming and out-going vessels from all ports of the world while enjoying luncheon or dinner.

☆

Guido Bianchina and Joe Selmi, the J and G-ers, can't figure out why the Giants haven't made more trades this year. Wouldn't be surprised if they sent in a few suggestions to the Management. This idea sounds pretty good to me, too.

Scotty Campbell's Offers Sure Cure For Any Ailments

Bright Lights' favorite sister team is once again in restaurant action. And that means Theresa Urban is back at her Redwood City Scotty Campbell's hostess post, along with sis Mary Lou. These petite ladies have the brightest welcome smiles this side of a sunrise. Add the sweet charm of Helen Trainor, mother of the sisters, and you have a combination that defies comparison.

Notice: If you're still feeling the effects of last weekend's festivities, trek down to Scotty Campbell's and visit their "Medicine Chest." It's located just inside the restaurant door and contains many of the "sure cures for all ailments" that were used back in the days when Indians rode bareback in the now-El Camino area. This is rare medicine — and Theresa will pass out prescriptions.

For all you mates already anchored at the Cap'ns Cabin, San Mateo, kindly disregard this message; but attention, all you land-lubbers who have not docked within the boundaries of this unique cocktail lounge, Don't hesitate to drop your anchor here soon.

STATEMENT OF LUCKY STORES PRICING AND MERCHANDISING POLICY

Lucky Stores in Northern California have been closed since Sunday, to reduce prices on all items except those controlled by law. All stores will reopen at 10:00 a.m., Thursday, January 12.

This new discount pricing and merchandising policy offers lower everyday prices on virtually every item in the supermarket. Substantial price reductions are possible because of the shortening of store hours, the streamlining of store operations, and the elimination of trading stamps or other merchandising gimmicks which add to the cost of food.

There will be no change in the quality or selection of merchandise. This discount policy maintains that low everyday prices will be in effect 365 days a year, and a customer need not rely on weekend specials, loss leaders or other bait advertising, but may shop and save any day she chooses. Items will be clearly priced to eliminate guess work and assure checker accuracy.

Lucky's new store hours are 10:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m., Monday thru Friday; 9:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. Saturday, and 10:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. Sunday.

Elementary School Will Teach Judo

Jefferson Elementary School District trustees approved the inclusion of judo instruction in the Colma Intermediate School physical education program.

Described as a pilot program, the judo classes will be taught by physical education teachers' Bob Mannini and Frank Sansot, and will be offered on a voluntary basis.

The initial classes will last two weeks, beginning this week, and will be open to all seventh and eighth grade boys at the school.

Sansot and Mannini said the program was adopted to supplement the department's present course offering, which includes instruction in 14 sports.

"We feel this program might reach the interests of some students whom we have been unable to reach in the past," Mannini said.

Trustee Joseph Lewkowitz raised the question of whether the district's insurance will cover the "dangerous" sport, but the two experts said sport judo, the type which will be offered at the school, is one of the safest of competitive sports.

"Judo is far less haeardous than football, even flag football, and offers considerable benefits in exercise value and in the building of self confidence," Mannini said.

Board members approved the program on a two-week trial basis.

Youth Delinquency Forum Is Building, D.C. Leaders Say

Election Method

Lycett Displeased Over the Silence

If Daly City's mayor hadn't fired up Thursday's meeting of the North San Mateo County Council of Cities with a forceful blast at county supervisors, "scenic Pacifica" might have come frightfully close to earning the catchphrase, "peaceful."

Meeting at Pacifica's Sea Bowl, mayors and other municipal leaders engaged in what chanced to be one of the least explosive sessions since debates started last May on proposals to elect county supervisors by district, instead of "at-large."

The Daly City mayor, Bug Lycett, spiced up the affair with a bitter attack on supervisors for what he called their failure to agree or disagree on placement of a charter amendment on the ballot to permit voters to decide whether or not they want to change the supervisorial selection method.

The Council of Cities hoped for an answer from supervisors that night. But it did not appear, just as County Mgr. E. R. Stallings earlier insisted it wouldn't — because he had been unable to follow supervisorial desire and obtain an "impartial" study of the proposal by groups like the League of Women Voters.

Lycett, pointing back to May 5, when the discussions first were launched, noted that "with all this talk, a week after I make this presentation, Mr. Stallings says he cannot come up wtih an answer."

He referred to a letter that Stallings wrote in November about his inability to prepare a board answer.

"I can't buy it," he added.

Lycett took on the members of his group for procrastination.

"What they (the supervisors) are saying," Lycett prodded, "is that they can't deliver an answer to a proposal made by 42 per cent of the people."

"If we can't get a simple answer, we're not being represented," he continued.

The solution, to him, was to authorize solicitation of signaturs on a petition to force an initiative, which would get the election-method question on the ballot without supervisorial consent.

Though other members of the Council appeared to agree with Lycett on the end result — that is, supervisorial decision one way or the other; they did not share his means for getting action.

San Bruno Mayor Karney Barberian, for one, thought there was plenty of time for "rational" thinking; that with the seating of North County-oriented Bob St. Clair on the board, the advancement of Pacifica's Jean Fassler to chairman and San Bruno's James Fitzgerald to vice chairman of the board, the North County's view could be expected to be heard.

He favored asking the board once more for action before institution of an initiative measure.

"We deserve an answer," agreed Pacifica Mayor Harland Minshew.

But, he added, the makeup of the board seemed to indicate immediate action could be anticipated.

The group settled down again after the "baby member" of the board of supervisors, Bob St. Clair, asked that a letter be sent to the board asking once more for action.

Drunk Tests Are Upheld By Court

The right of peace officers to obtain a blood sample from drunk driving suspects when they are in no position to consent or object to it because of unconsciousness has been upheld by the District Court of Appeal.

The ruling was made as the DCA denied the appeal of Joseph Angel Bustos, 36-year-old San Francisco barber who was convicted in 1965 in connection with the traffic death of his cousin, William Yanes, 34, of 457 Briarwood Drive, South San Francisco.

Bustos, who has insisted throughout the case that Yanes was driving at the time of the accident, appealed on the grounds that taking the blood sample and using the results of a blood-alcohol test against him in court violated his rights against self-incrimination and unlawful search and seizure.

In the district court ruling, Presiding Justice Murray Draper noted that Bustos, who was critically injured in the accident, "does not complain of the intrusion into his body for a blood transfusion which contributed to saving his life. He attacks only the intrusion which permitted the court to protect others by imposing a four-year probationary period of abstinence upon him." After his conviction on charges of manslaughter and felonious drunk driving, Bustos was placed on probation for four years on condition he serve six months in county jail and refrain from drinking. He was also ordered to pay $50 a month to Yanes' widow.

The DCA held that investigating officers had reason to believe when they ordered the blood test in the hospital three hours after the collision that Bustos was the driver. Although his unconscious form was hanging part way out the door on the passenger side, his feet were caught between the gear shift lever and seat. And another motorist identified him as the driver by the black and white striped shirt he was wearing. Experts differed during the trial on whether or not he could be driving but the jury believed that he was.

The claim that taking of the blood sample violated his constitutional rights was negated, the DCA said, by a recent ruling of the United States Supreme Court.

Bausch And Lomb Award To Villalon

Bill Villalon

William Villalon, a senior at Westmoor High School, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Villalon of 117 Mar Avenue, has been selected winner of the Bausch and Lomb Science Award.

Winners of the science award may compete for science scholarships, at the University of Rochester, N.Y. Stipends are based on need and have a total combined four-year value of around $50,000.

The science award — a bronze medal — is presented at graduation in more than 8,000 schools. Since its introduction in 1933, there have been 195,000 winners. Results of surveys have shown that more than 38 of the winners have been encouraged by the award to follow scientific careers.

Bill has been his class representative in student government for the past three years, math club president, and a member of the California Scholarship Federation, of which he is a potential life member. He is also vice president of the Science Club, which he has been active in since his junior year.

As a freshman, he was a member of the Spanish Club and is also a member of Junior Statesman.

The NEPT award and the Award of Merit for Spanish test have been awarded to Bill.

Bill's plans are to be a physicist and to attend Massachusetts Institute of Technology or Cal Tech.

Following the university preparatory course at Westmoor, Bill, who has maintained an "A" average, is also a member of Westside Teen Club.

Beer Trail By Burglar In San Bruno

A beer-splashing burglar took two banks from a dresser drawer in a San Bruno room Thursday, netting himself $50.

Jessie Foster of 2380 Rollingwood Drive told police that the Foster home had been entered between 7:45 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. A piggy bank and a treasure chest bank were taken from a dresser drawer in a northeast bedroom,

In one bank was $45 in quarters and half-dollars. The treasure chest contained $5.

Several valuable items, however, were left behind by the burglar, who grabbed a quart of beer in the basement on his way out and poured it out in the basement and backstairs.

Cities Panel To Meet February 3

The executive committee of the North San Mateo County Council of Cities will meet in South San Francisco on February 3, Chairman R. D. Martin announced Thursday.

Additional information, he said, would be delivered prior to the session.

Lawmakers, Leaders To Talk ABAG

A meeting with state legislators is being arranged by North San Mateo County Council of Cities officials, to discuss proposed legalization of regional government.

The group is on record against formal regional government, restating this stand last Thursday endorsing a resolution from the Millbrae City Council.

A retention of the traditional home rule concept for municipal and county government was urged in the resolution forwarded to representatives of the area in state government.

It pointed out that the Association of Bay Area Governments (ABAG) was formed as a voluntary forum for the area's government leaders.

The resolution asked that functions of the cities and counties not be taken away by ABAG without vote of the electorate.

Such a superseding entity, the resolution stated, is contrary to Millbrae and League of California Cities' policy.

The resolution urges legislators in Sacramento to reject adoption of ABAG or any other regionalized government as a legal being that could initiate general obligation bond issues and acquire real property within a city without the consent of the municipality.

Pacifica's Mayor Harland Minshew last night paid flowery tribute to Mrs. Jean Fassler, who this week was named chairman of the county board of supervisors.

The former councilwoman, attending the the Pacifica meeting of the North San Mateo County Council of Cities, was presented with a fuchsia corsage by the mayor.

Crestmoor Theft Told

San Bruno police are investigating the theft of three microscopes from the Crestmoor High School biology room sometime over the Christmas-New Year holidays.

The burglary was discovered when school opened this week.

Entry to the room was made through a roof vent, which permitted the burglar to make his way into the building.

Day-long Meeting Feb. 4

With "Delinquency Fallout — 8 to 80" the theme of the February 4 Jefferson High District Daly City Town Hall meeting, the adult-student planning committee has been seeking sponsors and developing workshops, in which both youths and adults will meet to discuss delinquency and crime in Daly City and surrounding communities.

The Senior Teens of Daly City voted to donate $125 to the Town Hall project to show their interest and to help sponsor the meeting.

The Town Hall Meeting will be held at Jefferson High school from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The co-hosts will be the City of Daly City, the Jefferson Union High School District, the Jefferson Elementary School District, and the Brisbane and Bayshore School Districts. Students from both Jefferson and Westmoor High schools will be active in the workshops along with adults from the area who are interested in getting together with teen-agers to discuss these problems.

January 28 has been set as the deadline for pre-registration. Chuck Vincent of the Daly City Recreation Department is in charge. Pre-register by either mailing or bringing pre-registration forms to the Daly City Recreation Department at 144 Hillside Boulevard.

Jefferson Student Body President Joe Torrez, and Westmoor Student Body President Rich Esposto, are handling pre-registration for students at their respective schools.

Five basic topics were developed for the workshops by the planning committee.

The workshops will be led by adults who have been working with students in the community.

They are (1) Definition and Causes of Delinquency (2) What role do institutions and agencies play? (3) How effective are current prevention and treatment methods? (4) Narcotics: The Eighteen adults have accepted the responsibility of leading the workshops, but it is hoped more will help to moderate the workshops. Heading the list are Lino Beldi, John Conroy, Dion DuBois, James Forrest, Robert Galleni, Ralph Galloway, Floyd Gonella, Miss Julie Janssen, and Mrs. Doris Lindfors.

Also accepting are Mario Lombardi, Robert Lualhati, Paul Perez, Tom Policita, Gene Post, Bruce Russel, Rudi Tretten, Steve Wong, and Gary Yazalina.

$450 in Tools Said Stolen

Billy Cook, 27-year-old Coast Guardsman, who lives at 715 Bradford, in Pacifica, has reported to police the theft of $450 worth of tools.

Cook said the tools were in a locked eight-drawer case on a shelf on his half of a duplex garage.

HERE SERRA SWINGS —That portion of Interstate 280 between San Bruno Avenue and Summit Drive, with Sneath Lane at lower right, where the boulevard now ends, is under new route construction that will swing the highway southwesterly to a new alignment near Skyline Boulevard.

GIANT CROQUET? — In any big highway project, scores of workers do a lot of little jobs. Here, wire mesh is stapled to roadbed slopes to hold down straw layer.

ROUTE 92 WORK on westerly portion of freeway is seen in progress in vicinity of Ralston Avenue-Polehemus Road interchange. Excavation, grading and start of structural forms are visible.

ONSTRUCTION PUSHED —The 3.4 miles from Eastmoor Avenue in Daly City to a half-mile south of Arroyo Drive in South San Francisco is 50 per cent complete, with finish due in 1968.
